CYPRESS BANK HELD UP AND ROBBED

High Tides Do $2,000,000 Damage On Atlantic Coast

FRESH HAVOC WROUGHT BY HEAVY SEAS

Red Cross and Salvation Army Workers Come to Aid of 300 Homeless

BLIZZARDS IN WEST

Wyoming, Montana and Midwest States Covered By Snow—Winds Cold

BOSTON, March 5.—(UP)—Fresh

havoc was wrought at midnight by savage seas which yesterday caused damage estimated at $2,000,000 along a 200 mile stretch of the New England coast.

The midnight high tide, generally equal and at some points surpassing yesterday's near-record wash, ruined more seaside homes, flooded and undermined scores of additional buildings, battered already weakened breakwaters, isolated two entire towns for four hours.

Red Cross and Salvation Army workers and coast guards were busy caring for more than 300 homeless and rescuing motorists and pedestrians caught in the many danger zones along the seaboard by the treacherous overwash of a swollen tide.

Overnight the wind switched from northeast to northwest and it was believed this would lessen to some extent the tidal hazards, nevertheless fear was felt that the next high water, due shortly before noon in this section would add to the enormous property losses already suffered.

BLIZZARDS IN WEST

DENVER, March 5.—(UP)—Stabbing north winds whipped a blizzard from Montana to New Mexico today.

Wyoming was engulfed by snow, and the raw March blizzard threatened to bury Colorado's highways.

Railroads maintained schedules with difficulty. The Burlington dispatcher at McCook, Neb., reported snow was drifting near Akron, Colo., with train delays likely.

Bus traffic lagged and travel bureaus advised motorists against venturing out into the storm.

Dispelling fears of a drought and water shortage, the snow freshened up the ranges and filled great reservoirs, assuring water for irrigation.

The storm extended east into Nebraska and western Kansas, causing numerous minor traffic accidents.

The United States weather bureau predicted the storm would continue at least 24 hours, giving way to slowly rising temperatures Friday.

Daisy De Voe's Appeal Presented to Supreme Court

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(UP)—Another attempt to gain her liberty from the county jail pending an appeal from conviction of stealing $225 from Clara Bow was made by Daisy De Voe when her application for release on bail was placed before the state supreme court.

Miss De Voe, convicted on one count of grand theft, had been unsuccessful in previous attempts to gain her liberty through the district court of appeals.

San Quentin Boasts Gain In Population

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., March 5.—(UP)—The San Quentin Bulletin, inmate publication, said today that "consistent with the modern mania for bigger and better everything," San Quentin showed a population increase of 29 per cent over the past three years.

Commenting on San Quentin's cosmopolitan aspects, the Bulletin noted that "There are no Eskimos, Albanians, Belgians, Cubans or Montenegrins, but Alamedas and Los Angeles can be counted upon to remedy this deficiency at a short notice."

"There were 1476 new tenants admitted in the year," the Bulletin said. "Three counties 'seen their duty and they done it' as follows: Los Angeles sent us 517, Alameda 114, and San Francisco, 88."

NATIONALISTS IN INDIA TOLD TO KEEP PEACE

Orders Sent to All Workers After Congress Endorses Agreement

NEW DELHI, India, March 5.—(UP)—Orders for all independence workers in India to observe the peace truce signed yesterday by the Mahatma Gandhi and Lord Irwin were issued today by the All-India congress working committee.

The committee passed a resolution approving and endorsing the Gandhi-Irwin agreement and directing all congress committees to act immediately in accordance with the pact.

The committee, in ordering nationwide suspension of the civil disobedience movement against British rule, sent the following instructions:

"The committee hopes that the country will carry out the terms agreed upon, so far as they relate to various congress activities. The committee believes that upon strict fulfillment of obligations of the truce in behalf of the congress, will depend the advance of India toward swaraj (home rule)."

The action of the working committee, which yesterday was threatened with a split because some members believed Gandhi had "sold out to the British," apparently ended any immediate threat of dissension which would nullify the effects of the truce.

A semi official statement said the terms of the truce, which will be announced immediately, included release of political prisoners; non-political picketing of foreign goods; manufacture of salt by inhabitants living on the sea coast.

JAIL IN MICHIGAN BRINGS $2 AT SALE

LYONS, Mich., March 5.—(UP)—What price housewags?

The local cooler in which the village cut-ups were accustomed to diffuse their ardor two decades ago has gone under the hammer and, no one having any particular use for a two-cell shingle calaboose, it sold for the price of a good necktie.

The transaction is recorded in the village financial statement thus: Sale of jail, $2.

Lyons still has its cut-ups, but they send them to the Ionia county jail nowadays.

BELLBOY RESCUED FROM HOTEL BLAZE

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(UP)—Gus Anderson, hotel bellboy, heard water on the roof of his hotel last night, thought it was rain, sighed drowsily and went back to sleep.

He was unconscious from smoke when Patrolmen St. George and Trehaue rescued him from the blazing structure, from which 28 guests already had fled.

The "rain" was the firemen quelling the blaze.

OBJECTION BY ROLPH SAVES WOMEN'S JOBS

Bill Prohibiting Employment of Married Women By State Hit

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—(UP)—The death sentence was pronounced today on the bill prohibiting employment of married women as school teachers, or in state, county or city offices.

Governor Rolph, in a terse statement of eight words, made public by his private secretary, William A. Smith, gave the legislature the first broad hint it has received from the executive thus far.

Rolph declared: "I am not in favor of the bill."

Because of the governor's veto power, it is expected the measure, by Assemblyman Dan Emmett of Santa Paula, will be permitted to die in committee.

Already it has evoked a storm of protest throughout the state, and members of the legislature have virtually been snowed under by the avalanche of letters, telegrams and resolutions condemning the proposal.

Under the Emmett bill, which is far reaching in scope, married women "not the head of the family," would be forbidden to hold any job in state, city or county offices, or teach school. It adopted, it would hit thousands of women employed in schools of the state and in state offices at Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The legislature today also launched a general investigation into price wars in California.

It started with gasoline and ended with milk. Following closely after action by the assembly to investigate gasoline companies, the senate oil industries voted to summon officials of the great oil companies of California to a conference here.

The resolution proposed by Senator Will R. Sharkey, Martinez, was unanimously adopted and March 25 set for the hearing.

DOUBTS PARACHUTE CLAIM OF L. A. MAN

FRESNO, March 5.—(UP)—George Sallee, 22, today frankly doubted that E. S. Manning, of Los Angeles, was entitled to claim the world's free fall record in a delayed parachute jump, as announced yesterday.

Manning's announcement said he fell 15,265 feet before pulling his rip-cord, according to calculations of his barograph.

Sallee's doubts were based on the time length of the fall. Sallee said he fell 50 seconds to establish a record of 825 feet as computed by the bureau of standards in Washington, D. C., from his barograph. Manning claimed to have fallen 44 seconds.

Zion City Chief Firmly Convinced Earth Flat Disc

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, chief of Zion City, Ill., has just finished a trip around the world and, docking here, has pronounced himself even more firmly convinced than ever that this earth is a flat disc—not a globe.

He observed that "fundamentalists who reject evolution and accept the absurdities of modern geography and astronomy are straining at gnats and swallowing camels."

Incidentally, he brought home a prediction, based, he said, on Scripture, that Russia by 1935 would have the largest army in the world, including probably 17,000,000 cavalrymen.

DIRECTOR SIGNS

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—Stuart Walker, former director of the Repertory theater in Cincinnati, O., has signed as a director with the Paramount Public corporation, it was announced today by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president of Paramount Public.

Was Named As Director Of Chamber

Confusion, Following Election Is Cleared Up at Meeting Today

ANNOUNCEMENT that Frank Was was elected to the board of directors of the chamber of commerce was made at a meeting of the board held in the chamber office this morning. There was some confusion yesterday as to whether or not he was elected, but it was definitely known today that Was was elected to the board.

Ray Adkinson and W. D. Ranney are the two new members of the board and W. C. Jerome and O. H. Barr will continue to serve.

Directors whose terms expire are J. P. Baumgartner, Berle Morthland and Walter Vandermast.

Those who will remain on the board of directors are Alex Brownridge, Fred Crowell, Clyde Downing, Otto Haan, Harry Hanson, Allison Homer, Carl Mock and Charles E. Rutledge.

A reorganization meeting will be held on March 18, at which time the new directors will be introduced and will sit on the directory board.

GASOLINE SELLING FOR 14 1/2 IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(UP)—Gasoline continued to flow downhill today in the San Francisco region, where warring "independents" established a new low price of 14 1/2 cents a gallon.

The 14 1/2 cent price was 1/2 cents under the 17-cent level heretofore maintained by San Francisco independents and 4 1/2 cents under the 19-cent price posted at "big" stations.

A legislative investigation of the situation took a step nearer realization late yesterday when State Senator Will R. Sharkey, of Martinez, introduced a resolution asking for a general probe of the state's oil industry.

NEW TRIAL SOUGHT FOR MAL DAUGHERTY

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., March 5.—(UP)—Attorneys for Mal S. Daugherty, 68-year-old president of the defunct Ohio State bank, prepared today to seek a new trial for the aged banker, convicted of misusing bank funds.

A jury late yesterday returned a verdict of guilty on five counts of an indictment charging violation of state banking laws against Daugherty, brother of Harry M. Daugherty, United States attorney general during the Harding administration.

Sherman Deaton, one of Daugherty's counsel, said that if the motion for a new trial is overruled, an appeal will be filed with the Ohio supreme court.

Queen Mary's New Ear Rings Setting Jewelry Fashion

LONDON, March 5.—(UP)—Queen Mary is known to be inordinately fond of jewelry, and once again she has set a fashion in precious stones, which is likely to be copied extensively.

In the longer and wider ear rings the queen has been wearing lately is in one set a painted miniature of each of her grandsons, Lord Lascelles and the Hon. Gerald Lascelles.

In a superb pair of aquamarine stones is, one, a miniature of Princess Elizabeth, and in the other, one of the baby Princess Rose.

It was Queen Mary, who, a few years ago, popularized aquamarines as personal ornaments.

HOOVER PLANS TO VISIT HALF UNITED STATES

Chief Executive May Come to California During Early Summer

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(UP)—President Hoover plans to go out to meet the country this summer, it was learned today from his associates, although his itinerary is still indefinite. He is expected to make several speeches.

The president's itinerary may take him across the country by a northern route to his home in Palo Alto, Calif. In that case, he probably would return by a southern route, thus affording him an opportunity to visit at least half of the 48 states.

This journey is being discussed tentatively at the White House for sometime in June.

Meanwhile, Mr. Hoover is looking forward to the prospect of a brief vacation, something he has not had in the past 12 months.

His friends and secretaries are urging him to take his fishing pole and visit Florida or some other southern state for about 10 days. They want him to go as soon as he can get away, if possible next Monday. Announcement of such a trip is expected shortly.

Two places are known to be under consideration—Sapelo Island, Ga., and Long Key, Fla. The Georgia site is owned by the president's second cousin, Howard Coffin. The fishing there is reported to be not as good as farther down the coast, but the hunting is better.

The western trip may prove an important political venture. Its primary purpose will be to visit the national parks. The president planned such a trip last year, but was forced to postpone it when drought relief work necessitated his presence here.

RAILROAD SLICES ROUND TRIP FARES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(UP)—With drastic, long term reductions on fares in Northern California, the Western Pacific railroad today joined the fight already begun by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe lines against bus and auto competition.

Beginning March 8, round trip fares amounting to one-tenth more than one way fares will be effective over Western Pacific lines between all points on the San Francisco-Oakland-Portland line and the San Jose branch.

COMMITTEE TAKES UP MANSION BILL

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—(UP)—Appropriation of $500,000 for a new mansion for Governor James Rolph was scheduled for committee consideration in the state legislature today.

The bill provides for the erection of a Spanish style residence to replace the old fashioned structure now in use by the chief executive.

A campaign for a new mansion has been conducted for several years and passage of the proposal is anticipated by the state administration.

Loophole in Law Helms President in Appointments

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(UP)—A loophole has been found in the law which will permit President Hoover to appoint all the 300 postmasters who failed of confirmation in the senate, it was learned today at the White House.

A way has been found by which all will receive their pay for work done until their nominations are confirmed or rejected by the senate next December.

Three Other Persons Are Badly Hurt

Three Crashes During Night Reported to Traffic Officers Here

A 19-MONTHS-OLD Santa Ana baby was killed and three other persons were injured in a series of three automobile crashes in Orange County over the night.

Leslie Norris Allen, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris G. Allen, of 1048 West Fifth street, died instantly at the intersection of Flower street and Chapman avenue at 10:30 o'clock last night when the car in which he was riding with his father and mother overturned after colliding with a machine driven by C. M. Dodd, of Orange Route No. 2.

The child was rushed to the St. Joseph's hospital after he was taken from the wreckage of the machine by his parents, but hospital attendants told the grief stricken parents that the baby was dead. The body was removed to the Winbiger Funeral home here, where Coroner Charles Brown has called an inquest for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

According to information obtained by authorities, the Dodd car was making a left turn into a service station at the intersection when his car struck the Allen car, causing it to overturn at the side of the road. Neither the mother or father or anyone in the Dodd machine was reported injured.

Two persons were injured at 4:20 p. m. yesterday when cars driven by W. O. Hammer of Buena Park, and Homer King, of Cypress, collided at Valencia and Magnolia streets, in Fullerton, according to a report made here.

Mrs. Minnie D. Hammer and King were both cut and bruised, it was reported. They were taken to their homes.

K. Yoshikado, of Garden Grove, received severe cuts about the face and head, suffered a hole in his neck and was cut about the legs, when the car he was driving failed to "hit" the bridge over the Santa Ana river on West Seventeenth street, at 10 o'clock last night and attempted to go under the bridge instead of over it, it was reported by sheriff's officers.

The driver was traveling east at the time of the accident and his car tore off part of the bridge railing and speeded down under the bridge. He was taken to the Orange county hospital where it was said his injuries would not prove fatal.

OFFER $1 PER POUND FOR 2 METEORITES

DENVER, Colo., March 5.—(UP)—Here's a chance to win meteorite success at $1 per pound. The Colorado Museum of Natural History had made a standing offer to pay that price for any bits of heavenly bodies which visit the earth.

So if you stumble upon a 10-ton piece of iron and what-not, pick it up and present it to J. D. Higgins, director of the museum, whereupon a check will be issued promptly.

The museum is eager to locate two meteorites which recently fell in eastern Colorado and which were at the time, thought to be burning airplanes.

Raskob Proposes Dry Amendment

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(UP)—A proposal for an additional amendment to the constitution permitting states to manufacture, transport and sell liquor within their borders was put forward by John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee for the consideration of the party today.

Raskob explained that his proposed amendment should not be effective until it had been ratified by the states through conventions of the people.

Under this plan as Raskob explained it, the 18th amendment would not be repealed.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, March 5.—[To the Editor of The Register:] Our very popular new Governor of California, "Sunny Jimmy" Rolph, on the first meeting he had with his cabinet last Monday, lost his watch. That's nothing—wait till he meets the highway commission.

The senate right in the last minutes when dozens of important bills were up for their last chance, what do you suppose they stopped and discussed? "How wet Chicago and New Jersey was and the private life of Al Capone."

Such minor matters as the lame duck bill, the embargo on oil bill (that the very prosperity of five states depend on) all were passed over in order to discuss the fact that Colorado was dryer than New York because there was fewer people.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Believe Low Bid Opened at Denver Yesterday Be Accepted Soon

DENVER, March 5.—(UP)—Reclamation bureau officials here today predicted acceptance within 10 days of the low bid of $48,390,995.50 for building Hoover dam.

They were unable to forecast officially the action of Interior Secretary Wilbur, who must pass on all bids, but characterized the low bid as "very satisfactory."

The bid was submitted yesterday by six of the largest construction companies in the west, who formed a corporation, Six Companies, Inc., with offices in San Francisco, to make the bid.

If the Six Companies obtain the contract within 10 days, the award likely will specify that work start within 30 days. "This reclamation bureau officials were confident that the digging of the water tunnel."

SHANGHAI, March 5.—(UP)—Priceless porcelain objects believed to have been made at the famous Wu Sung kilns of the Sung dynasty have been discovered by archaeologists at Fengwang mountain, near Hangchow, a short distance south of Shanghai.

Fengwang mountain is said by archaeologists to have been the site of the palace of Emperor Kao Tsung who reigned about 1139 A. D. His workers at the Wu Sung kilns were the most famous pottery makers of the Sung dynasty.

Thirty pieces of the porcelain were discovered. They are believed to have been the property of the imperial family.

Telephone System Assets Estimated At $5,000,195,802

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—The Bell Telephone system assets crossed the five billion dollar mark in 1930 to $5,000,195,802, against $4,228,430,088 in 1929, giving it easily the top position over all corporations in the world.

This gain was revealed today in the annual report of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, whose assets of $3,162,926,191 are included in the Bell system total.

While assets showed a gain, the depression which affected business in general during 1930 reduced earnings of the American Telephone & Telegraph company from net income of $198,189,737.72 or $12.67 a share on 13,113,746 shares outstanding to $165,344,007.18 or $10.44 a share on 15,858,696 shares outstanding at the end of 1930.

LONE BANDIT TAKES $500 AND ESCAPES

Bank Manager Covered by Well Dressed Man and Ordered to "Hand Out"

Customer Waited on While Bandit Waits—Money Is In Cash and Bills

A WELL-DRESSED, unmasked bandit secured approximately $500 in a holdup at the Cypress branch of the Southern County bank at 10:30 o'clock this morning, escaping in a car in the direction of Los Alamitos.

Andrew Moore, manager, was at the first window of the bank when the man entered.

"Good morning," the bandit greeted Moore as he stepped up to the window. Moore's greeting was stifled when the man suddenly drew a revolver.

"Hand it over at once," the bandit ordered. "And give me everything or I'll kill you."

As Moore started to comply with the bandit's orders, a customer, Manuel Silva, entered.

"Attend to him but remember, I have you covered," the robber, whispered.

Moore feared to tell Silva of the robbery and the customer left the bank without suspecting that the pleasant appearing man in the lobby was an armed bank bandit.

"Now, let's have all you got," the bandit ordered, displaying the revolver which he had kept concealed while Silva was in the bank.

The man stuffed the bills and silver in his pockets, all the time keeping the banker covered with the gun. The last bill in his clothes, he ordered Moore to remain quiet for five minutes, and backed out of the bank.

A short time later Moore heard a car start at the rear of the bank. He did not see the machine but feels sure that it was driven by the bandit. The car did not pass in front of the bank so the banker presumes that he went in the opposite direction toward Los Alamitos.

The bandit was about 35 years old, of medium height, heavy set, and light complexion and wore a light colored suit.

"He certainly did not look like a bandit," Moore said. "On the other hand, he went about the robbery in a matter of fact way and apparently was not an amateur."

Moore notified the bank in Anaheim and officials there called the sheriff's office. Deputies were sent to the Los Alamitos district in an effort to apprehend the bandit and officers of nearby cities were asked to watch for him.

The bank in Cypress is a branch of the Southern County Bank of Anaheim and was established there several years ago.

EWSTEIN LEAVES ON STEAMER TODAY

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—Dr. Albert Einstein was on his way home today on the Hamburg-America liner Deutschland.

His last day in America was a busy one and ended with a grand finale at the Hotel Astor, where 800 persons, mostly prominent in the Jewish community, attended a farewell dinner at $100 a plate, to greet the departing scientist as "a great Jew, the possessor of a warm and beautiful heart."

The dinner marked the opening of a campaign to raise $2,500,000 for the rebuilding of the Jewish National home in Palestine. Dr. Einstein, in his farewell speech, spoke of the progress of Zionism and mentioned hopefully the recent letter of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald modifying the white paper of Lord Passfield.

$10,000 FOR SERVANT

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—Jefferson Livingston, retired cattle-up manufacturer, and owner of a stable of race horses, left all his property with exception of $10,000 to nine relatives, the will on file today revealed.

The $10,000 bequest went to Jeanie L. Mabon, New York, described as "My valued and trusted servant for many years."

CLUB ACCEPTED AS MEMBER OF CHAMBER HERE

A motion authorizing the Chamber of Commerce to accept the local twenty-third club as a business member of the chamber was passed at a meeting of the board of directors held this morning in the chamber office. This action was taken following an application for membership by the club.

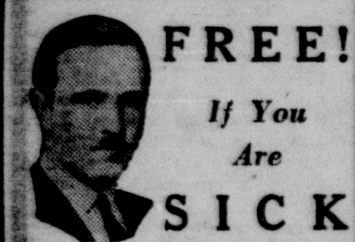

Discussion of the bill before the state legislature which would prohibit the taking of private property by any county through proceedings in eminent domain for park purposes; that would prohibit counties in the state from acquiring any land by purchase or otherwise for the purpose of transferring any land to the United States government for use as national parks was held and referred to the legislative committee for immediate attention.

The question of the harm done to local producers of sugar by the importation of sugar and sugar syrup from Cuba and the Philippines was brought up at the meeting. Sugar can be produced much cheaper in the Philippines than it can here and is imported duty free. Furthermore, it came out, the sugar companies in the Philippines have agreed in the past to ship only 70,000 tons of sugar and last year they shipped in 400,000 tons, it was asserted. Cuban sugar concerns now add water to their sugar and so are able to import it with a very low tariff. The board recommended that the legislative committee draw up a resolution favoring any legislation to protect the local sugar industries and send it to the senate.

The board of directors went on record as favoring re-apportionment of state congressional districts on the basis of population.

OIL FIRM ASKS FOR INJUNCTION

An injunction complaint was filed yesterday afternoon in superior court by the General Petroleum corporation of California against M. Pitts and C. C. Wilkinson et al, in which a court order is sought to prevent the defendants from using premises leased by the plaintiff for any advertising or storage and distribution of any gasoline other than that of the plaintiff.

Defendants are located in Fullerton, where they operate a filling station. Under a lease agreement made May 24, 1928, the plaintiff claims that it is entitled to the sole and exclusive use and possession of all surfaces on the property for advertising purposes and all gas tanks and containers. The claim is set up in the complaint that defendants have placed other advertising on the property and are using other gasoline than that which is furnished by the plaintiff.

The General Petroleum concern was awarded judgment on a similar action in a case tried in superior court here not long ago, affecting a lease on a Santa Ana station.

AWAIT REPORT OF AUTOPSY IN DEATH OF BOY

Coroner Charles D. Brown late this afternoon expected to know the cause of the death of William J. Furber, 16 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Furber, of Anaheim, believed to have died in the Anaheim sanitarium from eating wheat which had been sprinkled with thallium, when a report of an autopsy was to be made at the inquest set for 3 p. m. in Anaheim.

The baby's stomach was searched for poison yesterday and the report was to have been ready for the inquest set for today, Coroner Brown stated.

At the same time it was learned that Mr. and Mrs. John S. Kelsay and their sons, John W., 20, and James, 18, also were suffering from effects of some kind of poisoning, believed to be thallium.

The Furber baby was left with the Kelsay family several days ago when the mother was taken to the Orange county hospital, and Mrs. Kelsay is said to have cooked some wheat from a sack found on a ranch and fed it to all members of her family as well as the Furber baby.

John W. Kelsay, the eldest son, is critically ill, it was reported from Anaheim today, with both feet paralyzed and the same symptoms were seen in all the other members of the family, but not as severe. The younger son was paralyzed for a while but apparently is recovering, it was stated. The mother and father were only mildly affected by the food.

Coroner Brown said there was no doubt in his mind but that thallium had been added to the wheat, probably for the purpose of using it to kill gophers, but he awaited the official report of the autopsy before issuing a death certificate for the child.

In the meantime, the baby's mother is in the county hospital, awaiting the arrival of the stork, and unaware of the death of her other child.

Cheaper Divorces Urged by Famous Woman Attorney

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(UP) Burnita Shelton Matthews, former president of the American Association of Women Lawyers, said in an interview today she believes divorce laws should be liberalized so couples of moderate circumstances can obtain divorces cheaply and quickly.

A noted feminist, Miss Matthews based her conclusions on a nationwide survey of divorce laws which she has just completed for the National Women's party.

Divorces should be granted on mutual agreement of husband and wife to separate finally, in the opinion of Miss Matthews. She urged frankness in divorce proceedings rather than collusion or pretense.

Chamber's Home Products Dinner to Be March 30

The annual chamber of commerce home products banquet will be held on March 30, it was decided by the board of directors at the regular meeting held this morning in the chamber office.

A total of 450 persons are expected to attend the annual affair and there is considerable difficulty in finding a place within the city limits that will seat such a large number. Last year the banquet was held in St. Ann's inn, but it is impossible to use this place this year because it has been sold to the county and is at the present time being re-modeled.

Efforts will be made to secure Professor Ballard, of Occidental college, as the speaker.

TITLE TO BEACH LAND CONTESTED

A contention concerning the nature of a tract of land in Laguna Beach, approximately 50 by 140 feet in size, was being determined today in department three of superior court, where a quiet title action was being tried before Judge G. K. Scovel.

Plaintiffs are Grace L. Booth, Stillman B. Jamieson and Maurine G. Jamieson and the defendant is the city of Laguna Beach. Plaintiffs contended that they hold a deed to the property in question that is valid and that they are entitled to possession of the land, while the beach city maintained that the property, which is shown on a map as the dead end of Ruby street between Ocean avenue and the cliffs above the beach, is a public highway or a park.

Court action seeking a writ of mandate to compel the city clerk of Laguna Beach to issue a building permit to the plaintiffs in this action for a dwelling on the tract in question which was tried in superior court here several months ago, resulted in judgment for the defendant, thus sustaining denial of the issuance of a building permit.

The Jamiesons are reported to be wealthy Pasadena residents.

The water tunnels, two on each side of the site of the dam, will divert the Colorado river, so that the construction work will proceed on the dry bed of the river.

The $48,890,955.50 figure represents the cost of construction. The bureau itself will spend a sum approximately equal that for cement and machinery, which will make the cost of the dam itself about $108,000,000. The cost of building a town near the site of the dam, and of building the All-America canal, will boost the total cost to $165,000,000.

ERASE WORD FROM 8200 DIRECTORIES

WHEELING, W. Va., March 5.—(UP)—One eight letter word which almost led to court action, was being erased from 8200 city directories today by a force of six men and an attorney.

The word, "domestic", appeared after the name of Mrs. Sarah Crow. Mrs. Crow, the head of a house, charged that the word injured her social standing.

After Mrs. Crow threatened suit to have the whole issue reprinted, R. L. Folk & Company, publishers, reached a compromise with her. The word is to be scratched from all copies of the directory.

MODERN WILLIAM TELL

MARION, Ind.—A modern William Tell has been found here. He is a local youth who received an air rifle for Christmas. Hearing of William Tell, he set out to emulate the deeds of the great man. He lined up all the children in the neighborhood, put cans on their heads, and knocked them off with the air rifle pellets. Police took the rifle from him.

Oakland-Burbank Flight Requires 1 Hour, 31 1/2 Minutes

OAKLAND, March 5.—(UP)—A new unofficial speed record between Oakland and Los Angeles was set today by Vance Breese, well known Pacific coast aviator, according to word received at Oakland airport.

Flying the low winged Lockheed

Vega plane which may later be used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and with John Henry Mears as a passenger, Breese checked out of Oakland airport at 7:19:30 a. m. today and was reported over Burbank at 8:50 a. m.

The time for the Oakland-Burbank flight was one hour, 31 1/2 minutes or an average of approximately 230 miles per hour.

The previous unofficial speed record between the two points was one hour 51 minutes, set by an all-mail plane and pilot.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

How deep have the roots of your faith gone, during the years when you had others to inspire and sustain you and before the full force of life's whirlwinds and tempests descended upon you?

The young tree has to be supported and nurtured and protected just as you were. The strength and endurance and usefulness of the full-grown tree is dependent upon the sturdy roots which it has driven deep into the fostering earth and which bring both food and stability.

You can not in a moment achieve what should have been done day by day over a long period of time, but you can reach down to the depths for the power to stand firm amid the storm and stress of life and rid yourself of fear.

FACES CHARGE OF ABANDONING FIVE CHILDREN

Wanted on a charge of abandoning his five children, James Hopewell, laborer, who has been working at Garden Grove recently, surrendered at the county jail last night.

A warrant for Hopewell's arrest was made through the county probation department Monday after the Santa Ana police had been notified Sunday that Hopewell had gone away and abandoned five children, a boy 13 years old, and four daughters, 12, 11, 8 and 5 years old at 1110 East Second street.

The police took charge of the children and on instruction from Mrs. Nora Allen, probation official, placed the children in a county certified home.

Mrs. Allen said today that Hopewell had been to see her prior to his surrendering at the jail and claimed innocence of the charge, but that she did not see fit to dismiss the charges due to circumstances connected with the case.

A report to her was to the effect that the children had been left in the house with virtually nothing to eat, the father leaving them last Saturday.

RIGHT OF WAY CASE EVIDENCE IS SUBMITTED

Many witnesses were heard today and yesterday in the court of Judge H. G. Ames during trial of the injunction action brought against the Phillips and Hambaugh Realty and Construction corporation et al., by 93 plaintiffs owning property in East Seal Beach, in which they seek to have rights of way across property of the defendants to the beach opened by the court.

Plaintiffs contended that they have used certain ways from street ends to the beach for a number of years and that consequently they have become rights of way that cannot be closed. Defendants presented a defense to the effect that no certain path ever was used and that rights of way consequently have not been determined under the law.

The matter was submitted to Judge H. G. Ames this morning.

Witnesses called by the plaintiffs were P. A. Stanton, Albert A. Wilson, Mrs. Lucy Crouch, Mary E. Beery, Ernest B. Cornell, C. J. Smith, Howard Mackelvaline, N. W. Stanfield, Robert Borns, Edward L. Brent, Guy H. Fort, M. Elizabeth Hamilton, F. W. Hughes, Ruth J. Mieson, Essa B. Reynolds, E. M. Slaughter, John Weeks, James Wooten, H. H. Strain, T. A. Mitchell, Bernard Krenwinkel, W. L. Johnson, Frank McCoye, H. H. Aldrich, J. L. Johnson, John Lang and E. R. Mullen.

Witnesses called by the defendants were Robert D. Richards, P. A. Stanton, B. F. Mauley, D. H. Westmoreland, G. H. Morrison, J. L. McBride, T. B. Talbert, J. A. Armitage, H. E. Burns and W. K. Hillyard.

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 5.—The general reaction of the country at the final adjournment of the congress will be one of relief. When the people are in distress legislation always reflects their condition. In the national government this consistently took the form of spending money. Temporary help for the needy may have been justified but large expenditures only delay business recovery. Normal income taxes are already one per cent higher than last year and a prospective deficit threatens a large increase in taxes. New debts seem impending.

The congress threw away a great opportunity to help the people. If it had granted all necessary relief and then by a policy of rigid economy reduced governmental costs, avoided a deficit and more debt, the country would have looked on it as a savior.

Politics is always present. Probably there were those who thought they would profit politically by being able to charge that business is bad and taxes and debt have increased. Those making that charge in the future will have to explain what constructive measures they proposed to revive business, promote economy, and reduce taxes and debt. Those voting for the largest peace time expenditures any congress ever authorized cannot escape responsibility.

PLAN BARBECUE AT SCOUT CAMP SITE

A big barbecue and celebration at the camp site recently donated to the Orange County Boy Scouts will be held tomorrow night, it was announced today by Harrison White, county executive.

The site donated lies in an arroyo in the hills in San Clemente between the hospital and the golf links. The site was donated to the scouts by the San Clemente company, headed by Ole Hanson. Much of the work in securing the site was done by the Kiwanis club there, composed of members from San Clemente and Capistrano. The club will be host to other clubs in the county at the celebration. A selected group of scouts from this district also will attend.

At the meeting members of the executive committee of scout district six, headed by O. J. Guilbert, will introduce E. J. McFadden, of the executive board of the Orange county council, who will accept the site on behalf of the Orange county scouts.

CHICAGO—James A. Conterio of this city has perfected a model of a bicycle plane which, he says, can be propelled without an engine and with nothing more than the wheel-turning mechanism of a bicycle fitted to the propeller of the plane.

RESIDENT OF ORANGE SINCE 1906 PASSES

Funeral services are to be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Gillogly Funeral chapel in Orange for R. L. Coats, 76, pioneer resident of Orange county, who passed away last yesterday afternoon at his home, 353 North Center street, Orange. Services are to be conducted by the Rev. Walter B. Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church of Orange at the chapel, and graveside services by the Garden Grove Masonic lodge, of which the deceased was a member.

Mr. Coats came to California 37 years ago and to Orange in 1906. He was a resident of Garden Grove for sometime. Surviving Mr. Coats are his widow, Mrs. Ida M. Coats, three daughters, Mrs. Hazel Maxwell, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Clair Head, of Anaheim, and Mrs. W. Wilson, of Solana Beach; and one brother, Henry Coats, of Fresno, and eight grandchildren.

Mr. Coats was a member of the Methodist church and had been a member of the Masonic lodge for many years. He passed away on his birthday at 6 o'clock, the hour his family had planned dinner in his honor. Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Coats observed their golden wedding anniversary at Irvine park when relatives and friends from many parts of Southern California were present.

Before coming to California, the Coats lived in Lamore, Ia., and the deceased was a native of Ohio.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor, Register:

I would like to say a few words in regard to our city park proposition. We have no park to speak of. We sit tight and let the McFadden tract slip by when we could have gotten that for $1000 per acre. Now the Ford property is taken for the high school.

Why would it not be a good plan to buy the Sackman property on Eighth street, as we already own land that joins his property, both north and west. Those walnut trees would make a nice place for the kiddies to play in the summer time, and the vacant land on the east could be set to ornamental trees and shrubs. It would be easy of access from all sides.

Why not sell the city hall and take that money and build a modern city hall in the present pretty Birch park? I think it would be a much better location than the one way up on North Main. Then we would only have to buy the one piece and could take the money that we would have to pay for the Main street property to improve the park. It seems to me that would be much the better way.

We have no park to speak of compared to other cities much smaller than ours. Now I believe it would be much more likely to carry if put to a vote of the people than it would to vote bonds for the Main street property, and much cheaper, for we would have to remodel that old school building to the amount of at least half what it would cost to put up new buildings, and further, the south and west part of Santa Ana should have some representation.

It would be a fine thing for Santa Ana to have a nice park like we could make out of the Sackman place. I would like to hear from others who are interested in the up-building of our public improvements in Santa Ana.

L. M. BALLARD.

PLAINTIFF LOSES SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Robert L. Finch, plaintiff in a damage action against J. J. Sawyer and others, which was tried before Judge James L. Allen, not only had the experience of losing his case, but was assessed damages of $1416 in favor of the defendant.

Finch had sued for $10,000 for injuries received in an auto crash last August. Sawyer, in his cross-complaint, asked $16,230 for injuries he suffered, loss of wages and money paid for medical attention. Cases filed by Betty and Virginia Finch had been settled as the trial started by payment of $150 each by the defendant, who in making settlement specified he was not assuming liability for the accident.

Brighter Days!

You need not punish a sluggish system with purgatives that do violence. Just chew a pleasant Cascarets before bedtime. Next morning you'll be a new person. Candy Cascarets are made from cascara—which doctors say actually strengthens the bowel muscles. So their action is always beneficial. They clear up a stubborn, bilious, headachy and constipated condition every time. You awake with coating gone from tongue; with eyes brightened; breath sweetened; appetite on edge. For a bright morning, try a Cascarets tonight. Then you'll know why 20 million boxes are used every year.

KIWANIS CLUB FROM ANAHEIM GIVES PROGRAM

Twenty members of the Anaheim Kiwanis club met with the Santa Ana Kiwanis club at their regular Wednesday noon meeting.

The Anaheim club provided the speaker as well as the entertainment for the day. Percy Olds, of Anaheim, sang several songs; four Anaheim orange pickers "trilled" and "trilled" old time songs, while A. M. Guen, superintendent of the Anaheim public schools, gave an address on "Immigration."

Guen brought out the fact that of all children of elementary school age in Orange county, 20 per cent were Mexicans of whom 80 per cent are native born. He also called attention to the fact that $2,000,000 immigrants have come to live in the United States and questioned the ability of this country to accommodate so large a group of foreign people.

Guen stated that he thought it

CLEVER COOKS USE SUGAR TO SEASON FOOD

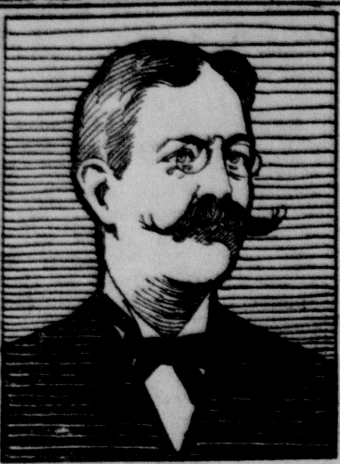

Improves the Taste-appeal and Increases Nourishment of the Dish

There is no need to deny yourself flavor when you eat essential foods. According to leading nutritional authorities and dietitians, the use of sugar to season vegetables, meat dishes and fruits is entirely proper.

Sugar adds zest to essential foods which carry vitamins, mineral salts and roughage. It heightens the "taste" of peas, beans, spinach and other vegetables. It improves the flavor of meat stews and makes them more palatable. In the case of fresh fruits, sugar modifies harsh acids.

In vegetable and meat cookery, a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular rule of clever cooks. The great value of seasoning and flavoring foods with sugar is that it makes them more enjoyable. Too often essential foods are rejected, especially by children, because they are not pleasing to the taste. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

J. P. Baumgartner rose after the close of the speaker and stated that he differed with the speaker. He said, it is the opinion of many able thinkers in this country that one of the fundamental causes of depression in this country is the present restricted immigration; agreeing, however, that emigrants should be selected before being permitted to enter.

FUND CAMPAIGN FOR ORCHESTRA STARTS MONDAY

By RUTH ANDREWS

The campaign to raise funds for the support of the Philharmonic orchestra of Orange county will start next Monday and will be carried on until enough money is raised to give two concerts during this spring. It is interesting to know that Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton music lovers also will be solicited by their local committees in order to help to finance this organization.

Since the merging of the Santa Ana Symphony into the Orange County orchestra more interest has been created by neighboring communities and the orchestra personnel has been augmented extensively. The first Symphony concert will take place in Santa Ana the last week of this month and the program will include the "New World Symphony" by Dvorak, and the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" by the French composer, Dukas.

The main purpose of this organization is to give the young local musicians of post high school age, an opportunity of carrying on their musical work in order that they may reach the goal of being professional musicians, also to discourage cheap music playing which has done so much harm throughout the country. It is gratifying to know that churches, service clubs, lodges, and other fraternities of this community realize the benefits to be derived from such an organization, and are helping and endorsing this movement in order that our city will progress under a clean program, giving us the privilege of being one of the best and most wholesome Southern California communities.

Letters are being sent to music lovers of the county and former patrons of the Santa Ana Symphony, soliciting their support, and it is hoped that we will be able to maintain this worth while musical organization in our midst.

It is gratifying to know that D. C. Cianfoni, who has for the past six years donated his service for the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, has consented to do likewise for the Orange County Symphony, in order to make possible for our community to possess a high class symphony orchestra which will without doubt boost and advertise this city throughout the musical world.

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, now the best known referee in the country, arrived here today for a rest at his Hollywood home and to attend the Paolino Uzoudun-Les Kennedy battle Tuesday night.

ANAHEIM MAN FINDS GOLD IN ORANGE COUNTY

There's gold in Orange county.

That wouldn't be news except for the fact that R. B. McIlroy, mining engineer and geologist of 873 South Lemon street, Anaheim, claims that he has located four claims in this vicinity capable of commercial development.

McIlroy, who displayed samples of his ore today, also stated that he has located approximately 20 claims in Southern California in the past three years and some in Arizona. Some of his other locations are within 150 miles of Santa Ana, he said.

"After a thorough investigation of three years in California, from San Francisco south, and including part of Nevada and Arizona, I believe that we have the same condition existing as in the Wet Water Rand and the Gold Coast in Africa," said McIlroy. He believes that there are large quantities of low grade gold in California either undiscovered or undeveloped.

Samples displayed by McIlroy were of rather unusual type, he pointed out. They are quartz rock, with small flakes of gold clinging in the crevices.

He has been prospecting for ore since 1897, when his brother, S. B. McIlroy, went over the Chilcoot pass in the famous gold rush of that period, he said.

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply, take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

INITIATIVE OF CHILD LOST IN COLLEGE. CLAIM

The necessity of stressing the development of Christian character in modern education and of providing college training that will not kill the initiative of students, was discussed in an address last night by Dr. C. F. Cheverton, of Los Angeles, president of California Christian college, on the subject "Education for a Modern World" which he made at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Christian church.

"The child starts life with a yell and is full of initiative," Dr. Cheverton said. "He wants to do things himself. But what happens when he goes to college? A prominent educator has said that the average college graduate doesn't have as much initiative as a three year old child. It is pretty effectively killed in college. The courses are all selected and the child is told what to take, what to study and what to do. Everything he does is something he has been told to do."

"A child has a natural tendency to be democratic. Children of all races play together and express affection indiscriminately. But as they are moulded by home, college and church they change, because the right things are not stressed."

"Another characteristic of the child is that he is naturally religious. But we have become busy about so many things that the religious tendency of youth is permitted to slip away. Some of the things we are busy about are the mechanics and standards of education. Colleges are offering course prescribed by persons long dead. There does not seem to be initiative enough to say these things are not what are needed. The most important thing of all is the building of strong Christian character.

"The public school men themselves have set up four great ideals of education. They are to get young people to understand themselves, nature, society and God. Of these the relationship between man and God is the most important."

"The crimes of this age are not being committed by people who are 'dumbells.' The criminal leaders are persons of intellectual powers. Training minds and not morals creates a menace to society that can only be overcome by returning to Christian education and building Christian character."

"We insist that real education is Christian education and have developed a seven-point standard at California Christian college, in which physical health, social behavior, good citizenship, Christian philosophy of life, self expression, appreciation of fine arts and literature and vocational guidance are stressed."

"It is not enough to teach Christianity, but youth must be taught how to live Christianity."

Entertainment features during the program were presented by Homer Woods, of Fullerton, radio artist, and Hurd's string quartet. Woods, who was accompanied at the piano by his wife, sang "Little Pickin' Kid," "Children of Men" and "Keep on Hopin'." The string quartet, composed of C. B. Hurd, Paul Abrahams, M. Alvino and T. Gilbert, played a number of selections during the evening.

A group of girls from California Christian college who were present for the occasion sang a number of college songs, and Vaughn Harlan, one of the administrative officers of the college, made a short talk.

The Brotherhood dinner was combined with the church fellowship supper last night and there was a large attendance.

For the purpose of furthering musical education of the children of Santa Ana from a practical standpoint and to give the children the experience in appearing in public, the Fox West Coast theaters of Santa Ana are offering programs and prizes for all school children of the city, it was announced today.

The plan has the endorsement of both J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools in the city, and of Ray Adkinson, superintendent of county schools, according to Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager here.

According to the plan, each school will send children with sufficient musical background for small orchestra work to the musical director of the Fox West Coast theater on Wednesdays at 4 p.m., where they will receive tryouts, and the musical director then will assign positions in an orchestra which will be created from this group.

Both a boys and a girls orchestra will be organized. Each girl appointed to a position will receive a pin, and a button will be given the boys, bearing the Fox West Coast Children's Orchestra insignia.

The school from which the greatest number of children are drawn will receive a large silver loving cup, it was announced, and each school which contributes to the orchestra will receive a certificate with the names of the members on it.

Registration from the various schools for children in the ninth grade and below will be received, starting March 11, at the Fox West Coast theater.

RESERVATIONS FOR 'Y' EVENT TO CLOSE SOON

Last call for reservations for the Y. M. C. A. dinner at the Ebell club next Monday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harmon, was issued today by Secretary R. C. Smedley, who states that while a large number of reservations have already been received, there is still room for more. It is necessary to place the dinner order on Friday morning, and for that reason, it is urged by Smedley that all who desire to attend make it known promptly.

Reservations may be telephoned to the Y. M. C. A. this evening or Friday morning, but it will not be convenient to accept orders for places after Friday noon.

The dinner is being given in honor of Francis Harmon, president of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., who is visiting California, and has been secured for this date in Santa Ana. He is a noted speaker and Christian leader, and should be heard by a great crowd.

Dr. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier college, is to act as toastmaster. Robert L. Brown will sing. President Harmon will be the principal speaker. Ralph G. Cole, of Geneva, Switzerland, well known locally because of his past association with the Orange County Y. M. C. A., is also to be present, and to deliver a short address.

The dinner Monday evening will be served by the ladies of the second economics section of the Ebell club. Preceding the dinner, there will be a meeting at 5:30, of boards of directors from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange, Fullerton and Whittier, who will be thus privileged to meet Mr. Harmon in a more intimate way than is possible at the dinner hour.

Why an Interest Account?

WHY should you invest your money in an interest account here?

BECAUSE it never decreases in value, is always worth what you paid for it and can be turned into cash at any time without cost for commissions or transfer. Because the interest is never cut, deferred, or passed. BECAUSE it is not affected by wars, strikes, riots, fires, floods, poor crops or hard times. BECAUSE it cannot be injured by commerce commissions, court decisions, politics or labor troubles. BECAUSE you can make this investment at any time and with any sum.

AND BECAUSE it is the only form of investment you can make which is subject to banking laws, rules and regulations and under the supervision of bank examiners.

Court Notes

Lillian M. Christensen yesterday filed a divorce complaint against Chris Christensen in superior court, basing the action on charges of extreme cruelty. They were married on July 24, 1924, in Menominee, Mich., and separated November 15, 1929. She asks a court order of $50 monthly for support.

A complaint asking a decree of quiet title to property located in Orange has been filed in superior court by H. Z. Adams against Bernice Moore.

Judgment of $488.56 is asked in a suit that has been filed in superior court by the Orange Building and Loan association against Margaret M. Davis. That amount, the complaint states, is the unpaid balance due on a promissory note after a credit of $67.53 realized through the sale of property under a trust deed was applied to the note.

Judge James L. Allen has modified the probation order of Arthur Hudnut, so that for a period of one week he will be permitted to leave the jail during the day in search of work. He formerly was sentenced to serve one year with the chain gang on a fictitious check charge in connection with a $5 check passed on October 11, 1930.

DRAGGING THE HARBOR

When the U. S. Geodetic Survey charts a harbor it does not merely take ordinary depth soundings but chain-draws the entire bottom to make sure that no pinnacles of rock are hidden beneath the surface.

To maintain a safe harbor for savings, this institution takes a similar precaution. We not only take "soundings" through a monthly Statement of Condition but "chain-draw" our entire system of offices through continuous supervision.

This protective work is performed by our own corps of auditors under the counsel and examination of one of the largest and best regarded firms of Certified Public Accountants. Through this unceasing vigilance we, today, afford our 80 thousand savings customers the same protection that has been a tradition of Pacific States Savings since 1889.

Time-proved guardianship plus interest on large or small funds at the attractive rate of 6% are advantages you may enjoy at Pacific States Savings. Why not take advantage now?

CHILDREN'S HOUR SURPRISE PROGRAM STILL BIG SECRET

Well, how can a surprise really be a surprise, if you know about it beforehand?

That's the way Lorene Croddy, director of the KREG children's hour puts it when she is asked about the special program which is to be broadcast on this hour soon.

She determined that it shall be a complete surprise for everyone concerned—perhaps even for those who will take part in the program. And that's a hard one to figure out.

Lefevre, violinists and singers; Jack Lefevre and Mae Lefevre, guitar artists; Perry Cutbirth, mandolin player, and Clarence Cutbirth, banjo player.

Their appearance will be sponsored by the Lacy Furniture store, 506 North Broadway, and H. R. Trott, of the watch and clock department there. The sponsors have planned announcements to Orange county listeners. They also will present valuable gifts in the near future, which are on display in the Lacy store window.

By the time next Wednesday night rolls around the secret will have been broadcast—maybe before. That leaves tomorrow, Monday and Wednesday to watch.

For tomorrow's program, from 5:30 to 6 p. m., there will be piano duets, by Irma and Walter Watters; harmonica music, by Charles Glotzbach; songs and dances, by Jean McKamy; piano solos, by Virginia Campbell; violin solos, by Dale Curry; piano music, by Francis Was; readings, by Celine Kinsel; and piano numbers, by Ruth Ellen Saez.

Celine Kinsel is just three years old and will read nursery rhymes. Ruth Ellen Saez is four years old and plays very well for her age. Watch for the surprise.

NEWEST PHILCO RADIO MODELS ARE DISPLAYED

Demonstrations of the new 1931 Philco super-heterodynes at Turner Radio company, local Philco dealer, have attracted considerable interest among hundreds of persons who visited the radio shop in the past week or so. The Philco "supers" come in three models, a Highboy Console, a Lowboy model and a radio-phonograph combination, and the trio presents an unusual radio receiver group offering many distinctive radio features.

"All three of the Philco 'supers' are remarkable performers from the standpoint of power, selectivity and tonal quality," said L. M. Turner. "They combine in an extraordinary manner the well-known Philco balanced-unit principle with the famous super-heterodyne circuit, declared to be the most selective so far evolved."

"Those who have seen the new 1931 Philco line find it a most complete one, offering a price range and cabinet artistry rarely seen. The 'supers,' however, are probably the outstanding Philco contributions this year."

Each Philco "super" is an 11-tube set including refinements of unusual character. One of the most distinctive features is the automatic volume control which eliminates fading and maintains both local and distant programs at a constant volume level. Also important is the "tone control" with which one may adjust the tone to suit the listener's taste.

Evolved by American signal corps engineers during the World war, the super-heterodyne is known to be the most selective circuit ever developed.

Bill Desmond To Appear On KREG-Fox Frolic Here

Bill Desmond, with stories of his long experience as a motion picture and vaudeville artist, with a running fire of jokes and the added variety of harmonica stunts, will entertain Saturday night for the audience of KREG on the KREG-Fox theaters frolic.

Desmond is probably one of the best known of the stars who have seen motion picture history made since the beginning. His first starring picture was "Les Miserables." He later starred in "Ben Hur." He was leading man in the old Burbank theater in Los Angeles and when he was with Universal he was a favorite star in Westerns. His serial, "The Phantom Rider," was one of the most popular.

On the stage at the Fox West coast theater he will impersonate a "dude bandit" and his radio appearance is expected to feature the same type of entertainment.

PLAN 'STICKER' RADIO FEATURE ON KREG TODAY

Christine Lambert, pianist, will present another "sticker" program tonight over KREG. In previous appearances she has offered to try to play every number requested of her and out of dozens of selections called for she has played almost every one. She will be on the air from 9:30 to 10 a. m.

Two pianists who have gained popularity on the air also will play tonight. Alice Muriel Almqvist, concert pianist, will entertain from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. Irene Hubbell, assisted by Ruth Campbell, vocal artist, will be heard from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

Russell Thompson's Hawaiians, on the air from 9 to 9:30 p. m.; "The Outlaws," broadcasting from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., and a 4-H club program, presented by the Fullerton club from 7 to 7:15 p. m., will be other features of tonight's broadcast.

The Shoppers' Guide, with music, will be on the air from 6 to 6:45 p. m. and from 6:45 to 7 p. m. news of the day will be read.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leenhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city that McCoy Drug Co. says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile agony or money back.—Adv.

STATE WATER PROGRAM SENT TO GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—(UP)—A $374,000,000 water development program for the state of California was presented to Governor Rolph and the state legislature today by State Engineer Edward Hyatt. The report culminates 10 years' investigation into the water resources of the state and includes engineering, economic and legal phases of the development recommended. It does not, however, pass on methods of financing nor organization required to carry the program into effect.

A salt water barrier across Carquinez Straits was not recommended.

Major projects proposed by the state engineer included the following:

Kennett dam on the upper Sacramento river near Redding, $4,000,000.

Sacramento-San Joaquin delta cross channel, (construction deferred) $4,000,000.

San Joaquin pumping system, to transport surplus water from the Sacramento river into the San Joaquin river (construction deferred) $15,000,000.

Friant reservoir on the San Joaquin river north of Fresno, $15,500,000.

Upper San Joaquin valley canals, $29,000,000.

Industrial and agricultural canal leading from Antioch to Martinez, $2,500,000.

Rights of way, water rights and general expense, $5,000,000.

Colorado river aqueduct, $198,600,000.

Santa Ana river flood control and conservation works, $16,200,000.

Enactment by the legislature of a constitutional amendment relating to revision of eminent domain procedure, with respect to water rights and rights of way, was recommended in the report. This is needed, it was explained, to facilitate adjustment of water rights and other details necessary to execution of the state water program.

The feasibility of transporting Sacramento river water into the San Joaquin valley for use on parched farm lands was demonstrated by the report, which revealed that there is a large available surplus of water in the Sacramento watershed, above the ultimate future needs of that area, even in the driest years.

In disapproving the salt water barrier as a unit of the program, it was stated that fresh water released from Kennett reservoir would serve to check the encroachment of salinity in the delta region, would provide irrigation water for that section and would meet industrial needs of the territory along Suisun bay, all at less than half the cost of the proposed parrier.

Economize with Economy!

Graham Six Sedan averages 17.4 miles to the gallon of ECONOMY Gasoline

AGAIN, ECONOMY Gasoline proves its claim of "more miles to the dollar," in a 102.4 mile run from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara, using 5 gallons and 7 pints of ECONOMY Gasoline... an average of 17.4 miles per gallon... certified by the National Automobile Club!

The car was a brand new 76 H.P. Graham Special Six Sedan with Synchro-Mesh Four-Speed Transmission, from the Graham-Paige Co. of Southern California. It carried driver Harry Jones and Observer L. L. Brown.

This is the sort of test that means something... no trick driving... no unusual motor adjustments... no striving for prizes... just an ordinary run under everyday driving conditions... a run that you can duplicate with ECONOMY in your car!

The "secret" of ECONOMY Gasoline mileage is in the refining. The premium Santa Fe crude is a better raw-material to start with. Then, with great care to maintain U. S. Motor standards, every step in the refining is checked for a balanced motor fuel... as pure as it is possible to make! Economy keeps your motor cool... the sign of more miles. A Treasure!
—this new kind of coffee

THE DE-TEC-A-TIVES OF FOLGERIA
BLACK: Look, Blue, we can buy all Folgeria with this...
BLUE: Not so you could notice it, Big Boy—those high-up plantations aren't for sale at any price—they raise Folger-Flavor!

If you have never tasted Folger's Coffee your first cup will be a revelation. Don't think of it as just another brand of coffee, but a different kind. We ask no one to believe how good it is. We want you to taste it—and compare with other coffees.

Only a fraction of the world's supply of coffee is grown in the limited Central American Mountain region where Folger-Flavor comes from. A peculiar combination of rich volcanic soil, altitude, sun's rays and tropic rainfall produces characteristic Folger richness—coffee never "flat," thin or bitter. The "rough" offensive oils are eliminated by Nature—in Folger's you get real coffee FLAVOR. Try Folger's—No Risk.

This famous test proves it:
Just go to your grocer today and buy a pound of Folger's Coffee. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Judge the flavor. After this critical taste test, we are confident you will decide for Folger's—the flavor treasure from Central America. If our prediction is wrong, then your grocer will refund your purchase price. We'll pay him. Could anything be more fair?

OLYMPIC TITLE WYKOFF GOAL

The running form of Frank Wykoff is practically perfect, enabling him to speed over the cinders with a minimum of effort. The top photo shows Wykoff leaving his marks, body bent forward and arms used to pull himself forward. The lower photo shows the Trojan in full stride.

New Fastest Human Says He Can't Afford to Lose Race Now

BY CLAIRE BURCKY
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

The kid who won his first race at a Sunday school picnic a few years ago is ready to defend his claims to the title of "world's fastest human." And while he's anxious to increase his sprinting laurels in the coming season, he is looking forward to having his greatest year in 1932 when the Olympic games will be staged almost in his own front yard.

Frank Wykoff is the lad. To some he is known as the Glendale greyhound. He is working out regularly these afternoons on Bowerd field under a blazing Southern California sun.

Whether it be firing the starting gun or snapping the stop-watch at the end of a brisk dash, Dean Cromwell, Southern California track coach, is there to see that Wykoff does just the right amount of this and the right amount of that in his preliminary training. Cromwell visions a perfect record for his flyer this season—something he narrowly missed last year.

That outing with his Sunday school mates gave Wykoff his first taste of racing competition. He won the dash for youngsters of his own age and finished third in the open competition. Later he won the sprint championship of his grammar school, so that his reputation for speed preceded his enrollment in Glendale high school.

Under Normal Hayhurst, Glendale mentor, Wykoff became a schoolboy sensation who remembered from the 1928 Olympics and the trial events preceding that affair. Several times he was caught in 9.5 seconds, but this was largely attributed to the inaccuracies of high school timers and not until he defeated Charley Paddock in the Olympic trials was he actually recognized as a prospective champion.

The Glendale boy went to the post in 22 races last year. Of these he won 20, tied for first in one, and finished second in the other. His slowest time for the century was 9.4-5 seconds. Twice he ran in the world's record time of 9.2-5 seconds.

Heo Dyer, the lanky Stanford sprinter, gave Wykoff his only beating of the year early last April. Dyer beat the Southern Californian to the tape in the century in 9.3-5 seconds. An hour later they hooked up in a dead heat in the finals of the 220-yard dash, which went in 21.2-5 seconds.

A horse which apparently could not realize the value to this country of Wykoff's slender legs kicked him last summer, injuring his ankle. It was the same leg Wykoff had broken when as an adventurous youth he fell out of a tree. For a time it was feared that this new injury would lessen the Trojan star's speed, but he recently cleared this up in rigorous tests which proved the injured pedal as fit as ever. Wykoff is proud of his records. He hopes he won't lose a race this year.

"I can't afford to get beat now for I've got a reputation to uphold," he told friends recently. "I suppose every other sprinter in the country is looking forward to the Olympic games, too, but they'll have to run pretty fast to beat me, because I've got a hunch that I'll be at my peak in 1932."

And if we believe the young man, it means that we probably will hear of some more speed records being broken.

SAINT NOVICES IN BREA RELAY EVENTS FRIDAY

With their entries limited exclusively to novices, which will not be such a handicap as it would appear because the rank and file of the team are non-lettermen anyway, Coach Clyde Patton's Santa Ana high school tracksters will compete in Brea tomorrow to complete in Brea-Olinda high school's annual Orange league relay carnival.

The Saint novices will have to run against lettermen as well as novices from all other schools in the county but Coach Patton believes the experience will be of value in conditioning his athletes for competition coming up next week, particularly the dual meet here next Tuesday with Pasadena.

Patton has enrolled teams in seven events as follows:
Medley: 110 yards—Cantu; 220 yards—Gordon; 440 yards—Comito; 880 yards—Chapman.
Eight-man 880: Foster, Velarde, Meyer, Boyd, Woodyard, Brown, Flagg, Hales.
Four-man 880: Cantu, Gordon, Sorensen, Anderson.
Four-man 440—Wright, Larrabee, Velarde, Boyd.
Eight-man mile—Anderson, Sorensen, Foster, Hendrie, Hoots, James, Monan, Mitchell.
Medley: 220—Gordon; 440—Campbell; 880—Cartwright; mile—Ronschold.
Four-man mile: Comito, Chapman, Taylor, Cormier.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

LOS ANGELES—Twenty-two players were selected today to represent the Los Angeles Angels in their games with the Chicago Cubs at Catalina this week-end. Stainback, a Los Angeles high school outfielder, and Vusick, another recruit, are down on the starting lineup as regulars. Darrell Beaver, left-handed hitting outfielder from Santa Barbara, made an impression on Manager Jack Leivelt, and the Angels do not keep him he will be sent to Tucson in the Arizona State league.

SAN DIEGO—Jess Hill, hard-hitting outfielder who made his debut as a professional ball player with a home run last year, is getting particular attention from Manager Oscar Vitt in batting, base running and sliding in an effort to add still more to his batting average. Manager Vitt was impressed with the speed of Harry Anderson, scrappy pitcher from the Piedmont league.

PASO ROBLES—Paul Waner, one of the two missing Pittsburgh Pirates players, is expected here late this week after recovering from a leg infection in a St. Louis hospital. Steve Swetonic, pitcher, was told yesterday that an operation was necessary to remedy cracked bones in his elbow, and he planned to report to Manager Jewell Evers today for a practice. Swetonic may lose two months of the season if the operation is performed, it was said.

AVALON—"Hack" Wilson and his slugging mates of the Chicago Cubs looked at curve balls yesterday for the first time this season when they went through a long session of batting practice. After two weeks of preparation, each of the 16 pitchers was ready to start hooking them. A practice game between the yanigans and regulars will be played today.

SAN ANTONIO—Freddie Lindstrom's idea of breaking into the Giants' outfield was suffering a handicap today. Freddie fielded a high one perfectly yesterday except that he lost the ball in the sun. Still the manager saying Lindstrom may get a chance in right field, Melvin Ott going to center.

OPEN BOUT ARENA TONIGHT

Saints Set For First League Game

WILSONS HERE TOMORROW FOR BALL PREMIERE

High school baseball may be dead—but it isn't buried yet. The poor old "national sport," the game they say has been sickened too long for any use, fools the athletic morticians again tomorrow afternoon when the Saints begin one more Coast Preparatory league campaign against the Woodrow Wilson Bruins of Long Beach at Poly field here.

Simultaneously six other schools swing into action, with still another drawing a bye for its opening round. Glendale opens at Fullerton, Pasadena at San Diego and Compton at Long Beach. Alhambra is the idle one.

The teams are starting their race almost a month earlier than in other years so they will clean up their schedule by mid-April. Thus there will be no conflict with the big open track meets that get going about that time of year.

Four Home Games
Santa Ana has home games with Woodrow Wilson, Compton, San Diego and Glendale, travels to play Pasadena, Long Beach and Fullerton.

The Saints enter the pennant scramble virtually untested, having played but one practice game and that as late as Tuesday. Naturally their defense is liable to be ragged at the outset. Other teams, of course, are laboring under similar handicaps.

Coach Bill Foote is the only one who knows much about the Santa Ana outfit yet, and Foote thinks the Saints will get something out of their pitching holds up. "They'll blow the first string," says Blower, captain of the team, and Jim Daneri are the first stringers with Blower likely to draw the assignment tomorrow. He is staidier than Daneri who has a hard hard one but also a lack of control that militates against his effectiveness.

Daneri, Blower Versatile
Daneri will be used in the outfield when not pitching and room will be made elsewhere for Blower also when he is not in the box. They are both good hitters and competent fielders and have a year of experience in their favor.

Earl Halderman, a veteran, will do the bulk of the catching. His chief understudy will be a new-comer, Dave Webb.

The Saint infield includes two veterans, "Porky" Bell, colored first basemen, and Veri Moyer, shortstop. Frances Conrad and "Red" Kidder probably will start the season at second and third base, respectively, although Captain Blower may be used at second instead of the outfield when not chugging.

Lloyd Kneeland, Al Manning and "Babe" Gordon will be the first string outfielders, with Daneri available also when not working on opposition batsmen.

'Pretty Busy,' Explains Engineer No. 1

PALO ALTO, March 5.—(UP)—Lithe co-eds at Stanford university clamber through an abandoned conduit to reach the men's swimming pool for a dip on moonlight nights, and there ought to be a law about it. So says E. H. Waterman, No. 1 engineer at Stanford's powerhouse, who went to the editor of the Stanford daily newspaper about it. He also explained that men students, surrounded by high walls, used the pool day-times but didn't bother with bathing suits. As to the co-eds—
"I'm pretty busy down there with my engines and all," said No. 1 Engineer Waterman.

TUSTIN CAGERS SET FOR TITLE PLAYOFF GAME

Tustin's crack basketball team was to go through its last serious practice today before taking the floor at Fullerton Saturday night in opposition to Chino, Tri-County league titleholder, in the first Southern California C. I. F. championship playoff game.

Coach Bill Cole put his farm-ers through another workout tomorrow but it will be a mild affair and chiefly for the purpose of sharpening the "shooting eyes" of Henry Thier, Herb Lawrence, "Chuck" Wetzel and some of his other scoring threats.

Meanwhile, prep basketball observers were informed today of an alteration in the C. I. F. playoff schedule as a result of the 28-16 victory of Woodrow Wilson over Long Beach Poly for the Coast Preparatory league championship last night at Huntington Park. Two Long Beach quintets tied for the Coast league flag and played it off to determine which entered the Southland title series.

Wilson will now be idle until Friday, March 13, when it meets the winner of Southern league playoffs, probably either Brawley or Coronado. Chaffey, the Citrus Belt representative and defending champion of Southern California, will play the same night against the champion of leagues in the Santa Barbara-Santa Maria section.

Whittier and Downey collide tomorrow, Downey representing the San Gabriel Valley league and Whittier the Foothill league. The way the schedule is arranged semi-final and final matches will be run off March 20 and 21.

CARNERA FACES JIM MALONEY IN GO TONIGHT

By JOE COPPS
(United Press Correspondent)
MIAMI, Fla., March 5.—(UP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer and Jimmy Maloney, Boston, have their second meeting here tonight in a 10-round contest which is of tremendous importance to each other if not to the customers. More important than their former meeting in Maloney's home town, the bout rises to unusual interest in view of Carnera's promised meeting with the victor in the Schmeling-Stribling title battle in June and the determination of the Boston Irishman to slug his opponent out of the title shot and place himself for the first time on the threshold of the heavyweight throne.

Carnera is not satisfied with the Boston decision against him. Maloney is certain that he won cleanly in his local ballwick. This Miami bout was brewed before the giant Italian was promised a chance against the existing heavyweight champion late in the summer. Should Carnera lose, he is most certain to be delayed in his heavyweight aspirations. Should Maloney take the wrong side of the count or decision, his boxing career will be near its close.

The gate is admittedly not coming up to expectations although Frank Bruen, on his first promotion, is hopeful that last minute interest will swell the treasury to within striking distance of the expenditures.

Rumors that Carnera is attempting to use the injury to his tenth rib to walk out, muzzed the ticket sale, but Bruen held to his guns and insisted on going through with his promised show.

Leon See, foreign manager and spokesman for Carnera, feebly complaining about sending his "find" into the fray with an ailing rib, says Carnera is determined to end matters before the fifth round. See also said his man will favor his right because of his rib condition and will use his left to advantage.

GEORGE KEEPS DARO MAT CHAMPIONSHIP

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Don George, claimant to the world's heavyweight wrestling title, resisted the efforts of Everette Marshall of Colorado to take the crown by winning two of three falls at the Olympic last night. More than 10,500 persons witnessed the bout, with another 5000 unable to gain admission.

Marshall's airplane spins were turned against him by George, who took the first fall in 29 minutes, 50 seconds with a grapevine leg and scissors and arm hold. The Coloradoan came back to take the second with his airplane spin, in 21 minutes, while George came out of a spin to knock Marshall down for the deciding fall in 13 minutes, 15 seconds.

TILDEN IN L. A. PREDICTS DOES TENNIS DEFEAT

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(UP)—William T. Tilden, 2nd, expects to see Johnny Doe lose his national tennis championship this year. He said so today when he arrived here with Karel Kozeluh and Emmett Pare for exhibitions at the Olympic auditorium Saturday night, the last of Tilden's professional matches before he begins production of a series of tennis motion pictures.

Tilden declined to pick any one of the younger stars as the probable titleholder in 1931 but he thought at least 10 players have a chance to supplant Doe, mentioning Sydney Wood, Frank Shields, George Lott and Cliff Sutter in particular.

"Wood is the smartest and most promising player of the lot, and has as good a chance as any," he said. "First, however, he must build up physical endurance." Big Bill replied to other questions as follows:

Q How does your present condition compare with that of your Wimbledon and Paris condition of last summer? Have you suffered any recently from your hip injuries of last summer?
Ans. I feel that I am in excellent physical condition and am glad to say felt no effects during my Florida training from my hip injury of last fall.

Q What will your moving pictures consist of? Will they be definitely instruction pictures? How many do you expect to make? Do you feel like telling the world the amount you are getting for some?
Ans. The motion pictures which I will make will consist of a series of instruction shorts, which will combine a theatrical angle with the tennis instruction. I do not feel that the people would have any interest in the amount of money which I will receive for making these pictures.

Advocate Tennis Instruction
Q Do you advise expert tennis instruction for the growing boy as soon as possible after he takes up the game?
Ans. Absolutely, provided the instructor of the boy is qualified to give him sound technical training, and also develops the individuality of the pupil both in style of game and match temperament.

Q What do you consider the hardest individual tennis match in which you engaged? Why was your opponent and how long did the match last?
Ans. The finals of French championship in 1927 against Rene Lacoste, in a match which lasted for three hours and 45 minutes.

Q How long do you feel that you can play topnotch tennis?
Ans. Five years, with care.

EVANS EYES TROJAN STAR

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(UP)—Al Hildebrand, second sacker for the University of Southern California, cavorted under the eye of his father, George Hildebrand, American league umpire, and Billy Evans, Cleveland scout, yesterday. Evans, who signed the elder Hildebrand as an umpire, was interested in getting Al's name on a major league contract.

WON SIX PENNANTS
The first year of the Pirates in the National league, it was 1900, saw them finish in second place behind Brooklyn. The great Fred Clarke was Barney's manager. In the next three seasons the Bucs captured pennants.

Pittsburgh has enjoyed a first division complex under the Dreyfuss regime. In 31 seasons the Pirates have fallen into the rear half but five times. They came to the top again in 1909, 1925 and 1927, and won world's championships in 1909 and 1925 from Detroit and Washington.

ROBINS, CUBS, BUCS STRONGER FOR 1931 RACE

BY LES CONKLIN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, March 5.—Brooklyn, Chicago and Pittsburgh appear to be the most improved clubs in the National league for the 1931 campaign.

Four factors featured the collapse of the Brooklyn team last year—a gap in the infield defense at second base, lack of a hard-hitting regular in left field, poor team batting in the stretch drive, and absence of a competent catcher to help Al Lopez, sensational Cuban backstop who was overworked in the latter stages of the race.

"Lumbago" Lombardi, the big catcher obtained from Oakland, should prove to be a capable understudy for Lopez. Lombardi is no mercury on the base paths, but wields a wicked bludgeon and performs acceptably behind the bat.

O'Doul, Thompson Add Robins
"Lefty" O'Doul and Fresno Thompson, obtained from the Phillies, should take care of the other three weaknesses that handicapped the Bucs.

maneuvered Louisville out of the rut and onto a winning track. Then came an opportunity to buy into the National league. He did, establishing his Louisville club in Pittsburgh.

Barney has been the head man at Pittsburgh since 1900. His 65th birthday was to have been fittingly observed February 23. However, the tragedy of his son's death just the day before enshrouded the occasion.

A baseball environment was his son's from early youth. He became a fan before starting to school. The father often boasted that Sam in his youth knew more "inside baseball" than many managers and players.

RUIZ, MARTIN HEAD 30-ROUND BILL AT DELHI

By EDDIE WEST
(Sports Editor of The Register)
Delhi's doors swing open to Orange county's fist-minded again tonight with a new promoter and a new matchmaker running the show and a smattering of new boxers in it.

Benny Whitman and Earl Willson are the "big fellows" at the Orange County Athletic club now and this, their first program, is the first fight card offered here since Henry T. Foust tossed in the sponge last December.

Whitman, the matchmaker, and Willson, the financial genius, have taken over Foust's club on a straight lease proposition. They are anxious to "get over." They say they stand ready to throw real, genuine talent into the southside arena. They are catering to all kinds of trade by lowering admission prices. They want to stay here as boxing promoters.

TONIGHT'S CARD
(All Bouts Six Rounds)
Joe Ruiz vs. Danny Martin, 150 pounds.
Bobby James vs. Tony Bevo, 153 pounds.
T. N. T. O'Hara vs. Paul Gomez, 150 pounds.
Harry O'Hannigan vs. Columbus Evans, 160 pounds.
Freddie Hawkins vs. Pete Cardenas, 135 pounds.

but if their efforts don't make both ends meet have it fixed so they can get out at will. There is said to be nothing in their lease requiring them to stick with the ship if Orange county simply refuses to support the fight game.

Whitman is Ex-Referee
Whitman will be remembered as the husky little fellow who frequently worked as referee at the Delhi arena while Promoter Foust was operating. Matchmaking is not new to him. He ran boxing clubs at Santa Barbara and El Rio before taking out a referee's license a couple of years ago, and claims he is the only promoter ever to receive a gift from the fans when he left town. That happened at Santa Barbara. The gallery boys chipped in and presented Benny with a watch when he pulled out.

Willson is not a boxing figure. He is a business man, and said to be the wealthiest one connected with the fight game in California in any capacity. It is whispered that Willson is one of the heirs to an estate of enough millions to make your head swim.

The new promoters are bringing some uptown celebrities for their opening show. B.B.B. of a well known Hollywood cafe has promised to serve as master of ceremonies. Patsy O'Leary, leading woman in Mack Sennett comedies, will be introduced.

Tonight's show is headed by Joe Ruiz, nee Reese, and Danny Martin. Ruiz is a Mexican, Martin is a white.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
On the second day of their training at San Antonio, the Giants concluded that the lively ball is not deceased . . . they banged the new apple into both the right and left field fences . . . Pete Donohue expects some help from it, however, . . . he believes he can make it do queer things on a damp day . . . Seems queer, though, that Kearns should have been in his corner the last time this department witnessed the ex-champion of the welters in action . . . and it was only a few months ago, too.

WHAT WILL BARNEY DO?
Miami, Fla.—Will Barney Dreyfuss retain the Pittsburgh Pirates among his holdings since the death of his son, who served as vice president and treasurer of the club, or will he sell his interests and go into retirement? This question is basis of frequent discussions among the baseball magnates, managers, players and writers assembled in these parts.

It is generally known that Sam Dreyfuss, Barney's only son, was to have assumed command of the Pirates in the near future. More and more each year, Barney had been turning over the club's affairs to Sam. The son was prepared to step in any time the father cared to relinquish his place at the head of the organization.

Dreyfuss could have sold the Pirates on more than one occasion in recent years; they were a good ball club and were making money for him. Because he passed up these opportunities to sell, the impression became general that he was holding on to turn it over to Sam and thus keep it in the family.

DISEASE FIGHT OUTLINED FOR ORANGE LIONS

ORANGE, March 5.—Progress in medical science has been made in the face of superstition and tradition, declared Dr. Edward Lee Russell, deputy county health officer, in speaking before members of the Orange Lions club yesterday.

The public health office has been instrumental in dissipating many misconceptions, the speaker said. In the old days the physician never discussed his cases with his patients but at the present time, this rule is not followed.

Dr. Russell traced the history of inoculation for a number of diseases, and said that the effectiveness of vaccination was discovered when an English doctor observed that dairy maids were immune from smallpox.

California has more cases of this disease than any other state in the union, Dr. Russell declared, because the state is on the main highway to Mexico, where it is found all of the time. The average cost of a case of smallpox is $185, he said.

The health officer told of the rapid decline in deaths from diphtheria since the general use of antitoxin, showing a chart of the gain in population in the state of Utah, when the number of deaths from diphtheria closely followed the upward curve of population.

With the use of anti-toxin after the year of 1907, there was a sharp decline in the number of deaths and at the present time, there are few deaths from what was once considered the red scourge of childhood. Each case of diphtheria costs $150, Dr. Russell said.

Truth is the greatest factor of progress, the physician said, and it is through the public health departments that knowledge is being given and superstitions dispelled.

Dr. Russell said that regret should be felt for the defeat last year of a bill in the legislature which provided for the inoculation of dogs against rabies. It had been planned, he said, to have the cost of inoculation included in the regular dog tax and about 50 cents would have been added to this fee.

Roy Edwards, Paul Muench and George Bartley were appointed a committee to send wires to Senator N. T. Edwards and Assemblyman Ted Craig asking them to use their influence in supporting the bill for the creation of a park of 1000 acres in Tulare county for elk which are now almost extinct in the state. The movement is backed by the Lions club of Porterville, it was said.

Al Drumm was program chairman and visitors included Judge F. C. Drumm, A. J. Schoenfeld and Vic Walker, of Santa Ana.

An attendance contest is now in progress in the club and it was found that both sides had a perfect attendance record yesterday.

Spanish Village Stories Planned

MOVIE DIRECTOR BUYS POST ESTATE

LAGUNA BEACH, March 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Riesenher have bought the hillside home in this city formerly owned by Mrs. Guy Bates Post. The consideration was $7500 and was paid in cash, according to Dr. F. E. Callister, who made the deal with the consent of Moresby White, executor of the Post estate. Mr. Riesenher is one of the leading directors of Hollywood.

Reconstruction is being considered by the new owner, with a three-car garage to be built. With landscaping and other improvements, the figure to be expended by the new owner is estimated at $20,000.

In her will Mrs. Post stipulated that the property was to be sold and the proceeds invested for the Laguna Beach Humane society. It is not believed by officers of the society that there will be a very large sum placed to their credit inasmuch as the property is reported to have been heavily involved. About an acre of ground comprises the estate.

ANAHEIM DRUGGISTS RECEIVE $200 FINE

ANAHEIM, March 5.—Morris Kornberg and Samuel Nason, proprietors of the Cut-Rate drug store on West Center street, who were arrested several weeks ago, were fined a total of $200 on seven counts of violation of state pharmacy acts by Judge H. I. Spence in police court yesterday afternoon.

Kornberg had four counts against him and Nason had three, one of which was the sale of poison without the presence of a registered pharmacist in the store at the time of the sale.

Kornberg and Nason were arraigned before Judge Charles Kuehl several weeks ago and at the time pleaded not guilty to the charges and demanded a trial by jury. On appearing yesterday afternoon they changed their plea to guilty on all the counts. Nason had been out on a $400 bail and Kornberg on a $300 bail. Both men paid their fines and were released.

Judge Frank Tausch was to have tried the case but he disqualified himself and Judge Spence handled the case.

L. A. MAN CLAIMS CAR

LAGUNA BEACH, March 5.—M. A. Corrells, 6620 East Seventh street, Los Angeles, proved to be owner of the car found by the police early Sunday morning parked at a filling station, the feed pipe blocked so that it had been abandoned. It was also claimed by a finance company in Los Angeles and was stolen from a garage in Elsinore, where it had been stored with a bill against it. The garage owner tried to get possession, but Chief Abe Johnson was instructed to release it only to Corrells. It is believed that one of four men picked up on a disorderly charge, later released, was the thief.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This.

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to McCoy Drug Store or your druggist and get 1/2 oz. of Loma (double strength) and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—(Adv.)

A beauty treatment for flowers

THERE's no such thing as "luck" in a garden. It's a matter of proper care. And, because leading growers use care and Loma, they produce prize-winning blooms. Loma, you know, is the scientific plant food that stimulates all plant growth.

JUST work it into the soil. Wet it down thoroughly. You'll be amazed at the results. Bigger blooms. More blooms. Earlier, too. Same way with vegetables. And, as for lawns, you can see the difference in ten days. Grass greener, thicker, sturdier than you've ever had before. Your dealer in lawn, garden and florists' supplies has Loma in convenient-sized packages; also Loma spreader for larger areas. Tennessee Corporation, 61 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Why we spend $2,000,000 to put CAMEL cigarettes in the new HUMIDOR PACK

WE have been in the tobacco business a long time down here at Winston-Salem and we take a lot of pride in the quality of the cigarettes we make.

While we have spent a good many million dollars advertising Camels, we've always held to the old fashioned idea that the thing that really counts is what we put into our cigarette and not what we say about it.

If we know anything about tobacco, and we think we do, Camels contain the choicest Turkish and the mellowest, ripest domestic leaves that money can buy.

In fact we have every reason to be proud of the quality of Camels as they come from the factory, but the remark of an old friend of ours from Denver some time ago emphasized a point that has been the problem of the cigarette industry for years.

As he inhaled the smoke from a Camel we gave him in our offices one morning, he sighed with very evident enjoyment and then asked jokingly, "What is this, a special blend reserved for Camel executives?"

"Certainly not," we told him. "This package of Camels was bought at the corner store this morning."

"Well," he said, "I've been a dyed in the wool Camel smoker for a good many years, but upon my soul I never got a cigarette as good as this in Denver. If you would give the rest of the world the kind of Camels you sell here in Winston-Salem, you ought to have all the cigarette business there is."

THAT statement simply emphasized again the cigarette industry's most important problem. The more we thought about it, the surer we were that he was dead right, and that somehow, something must be done.

Denver wasn't getting a fair break. Neither in fact was any other town. The only people who really knew how good Camels could be, were the folks right here in Winston-Salem.

That was due to a factor no cigarette manufacturer had ever been able to control.

Naturally there is no difference whatever in the quality of the tobacco in Camels, whether you buy them in Winston-Salem, Denver or Timbuctoo. But up to now there has been a very real difference in the condition of the cigarettes by the time they reached the smoker.

The flavor and mildness of fine tobacco depend upon the retention of its natural, not added, moisture content which is prime at about ten per cent.

In spite of our great pains always to make sure Camels left the factory with just the right amount of natural moisture, no cigarette package had ever yet been designed that could prevent that precious moisture from drying out.

THERE are three things about a cigarette that can sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat.

- (1) Cheap tobaccos.
- (2) Particles of peppery dust left in the tobacco because of inefficient cleaning methods.
- (3) A parched dry condition of the tobacco due to loss of natural moisture by overheating or evaporation.

Always certain of the quality of our tobaccos we had already made Camel a "dustless" cigarette by the use of a specially designed vacuum cleaning apparatus exclusive with our factory.

Now, if we could perfect a package that would actually act as a humidor and retain the natural moisture content, then Yuma, Arizona, could enjoy Camels as much as we do here at Winston-Salem.

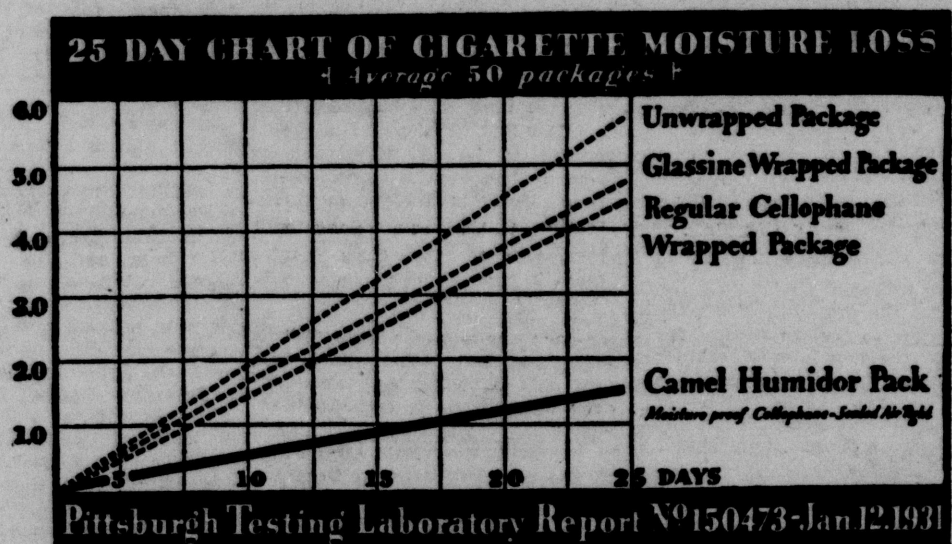

We knew what we wanted. We tried many things. We asked the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory to help us

After many experiments and humidity tests covering all methods of packing cigarettes came the detailed report of which this is the net:

- (A) No existing cigarette package, including those wrapped in glassine paper or ordinary cellophane, gives anything like adequate protection against evaporation.
- (B) All cigarettes so packed tend to dry out rapidly from the day they are released from the factory.
- (C) Only a waterproof material with a especially devised air-tight seal could give the desired protection.

(D) This measure, while costly, could be relied on to keep Camels in prime condition for at least three months in any climate.

If you have a technical bent, the graph below made by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory will show you the exact results of their exhaustive study.

Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

YOU may be sure we gave this report a lot of careful study. We checked it and re-checked it and then we went ahead. We tried this device and that. At last we met success. The air-tight wrapping involved the designing of special processes, special machines.

That costs a lot of money, more than $2,000,000 the first year, but after you have tried Camels packed this modern new way we are sure you will agree it is a fine investment.

For some time now every Camel that has left our factory has gone out in this new Humidor Pack.

We have said nothing about it until now, to make sure your dealer would be able to supply you when the good news came out.

Camel smokers of course have already discovered that their favorite cigarette is better and milder now than ever before.

If you aren't a Camel smoker, try them just to see what a difference there really is between harsh, dried out tobacco and a properly conditioned cigarette.

You can feel the difference, you can hear the difference and you certainly can taste the difference.

Of course we're prejudiced.

We always have believed that Camel is the world's best cigarette.

Now we know it.

Just treat yourself to Camels in the new Humidor Pack and see if you don't agree.

Claim Oil Firms Fail To Guard Fresh Water Strata

PROTECTION BY LAW URGED AT FARM MEETING

Accusing oil companies that drill for oil in Orange county of failing to protect fresh water strata and allow salt water to flow into the Santa Ana valley basin, ruining a number of wells in the county, members of the Orange County Farm bureau water committee and presidents and chairmen of farm centers throughout the county went on record last night as favoring any legislation or necessary action to protect water users' rights in the county. This action was taken at a meeting held last night in the Women's clubhouse in Garden Grove.

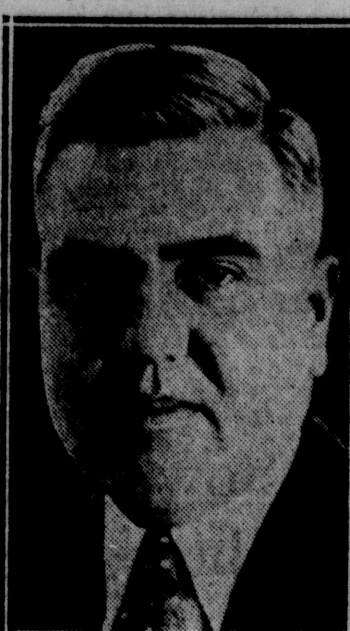

According to R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau, it was stated at the meeting last night that oil companies drilling for oil protect only the oil strata with no regard for the fresh water strata. It is claimed that when the companies drill for oil a large volume of salt water is released, which flows into the fresh water strata. One well in Huntington Beach was completely ruined in two weeks' time due to the large content of salt induced into the well.

In a statement made at the meeting it came out that if two or three oil wells in the upper end of the county were allowed to neglect protecting the fresh water strata, the salt water that would flow in the path of inflowing water would be sufficient to ruin a large portion of the land in the county for agricultural purposes.

This condition has existed for some time in Ventura county and the farm bureau there has taken action which has resulted in a bill that is before the state legislature to prevent pollution of fresh water strata and at the meeting last night the group went on record as favoring the proposed legislation.

A committee consisting of J. J. Dwyer, Anaheim, D. D. Waynich, Anaheim, and J. E. Lewis, Yorba Linda, was appointed to check up on the bill before the state legislature and to take the matter up

SPEAKER HITS COMMUNISTS IN NEWPORT TALK

NEWPORT BEACH, March 5.—One-tenth of the communists in the world are in the United States and one-quarter of those in the United States are in the southwest, according to O. H. Price, representative of the Better America federation of Los Angeles.

Price was the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association, which was held at the Palisades club here last evening. The meeting began with a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

Price's subject was communism, which he contended is taking root in this country. J. F. Burke, who was to have spoken on the crime problem, was unable to attend.

Mayor M. J. Johnson, of Newport Beach, made a brief address of welcome to the 75 peace officers of the county who were present. City Councilman Paul Ellsworth also attended as a city representative.

The chairman was J. F. Bouldin, chief of police of Anaheim, while R. R. Hodgkinson, chief of police of this city, was in charge of dinner arrangements.

SIX FOOT CLUB HERE PLANNING TO REORGANIZE

Perfecting plans for the reorganization of the Santa Ana Junior College Longfellow club, members of the six-foot group met last night in the college print shop.

At the last meeting the 45 eligible men students were cut to 21 and this number will be restricted further. Rigid entrance requirements, pledging, initiation and new meeting places will be a few of the new features incorporated in the constitution.

It was decided to hold the club skating party at Long Beach on March 13. Plans also were discussed for a beach party in April, assistance with preparation for the annual Spanish fiesta at the college, formation of an inter-junior college group of Longfellow clubs and means of advertising the college.

The meeting was in charge of Charles Greenleaf, newly elected president. A special election was held to choose a treasurer, with Milton Hilliard being named. Other new officials are Julian Leervain, secretary, and Art Jacques, secretary. Outgoing officers are John "Sky" Dunlap, president; Charles Greenleaf, vice president; and Ed Meador, secretary. Milton V. Newcomer, shortest instructor in the college, is faculty advisor.

CHURCH SPEECH ABOUT GANDHI IS BROADCAST

A new view of the leader of India's millions was given last night by Lloyd L. Lorber, of Dindigul, South India, in the first of a series of Lenten addresses that is to be given on the Wednesday evenings of March at the First Congregational church.

The speaker described Gandhi as "India's John the Baptist", in a talk which was broadcast by remote control over KREG. He revealed the many likenesses between Gandhi and the man who was the forerunner of Jesus.

"Gandhi dresses even more simply than John", said Lorber. "Gandhi's suit of clothes cost just 35 cents, for it is only a loin cloth. He is poor from choice. He was born the son of wealthy parents. But along with the other vows of his Ashram-school—is the vow of non-possession, which he himself

Community Players Meet Tonight In The Barn

Community Players are expressing much interest in the informal program to be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock in The Barn on McClellan street just south of East Fourth street, where Miss Edith Cornell, Barn chairman, will conduct the short business meeting with which the program will open.

It is the usual custom to present a one-act play, but for this March entertainment, members of the Players' association will have something quite different. For Mrs. Warren Fletcher has asked A. B. Shore of Hollywood, director of make-up with the famous Max Factor company, to talk on the art of make-up. In connection with his informative address, the expert will illustrate his subject on living models selected from the ranks of the Players, showing development of character interpretations by the use of powders and grease paint.

Mrs. Fletcher will talk on the history of Max Factor and his career, and the program will include string duets by the Misses Evelyn and Nathalie Mustel. It is expected that part of the evening will be devoted to reports of the Players' season which closed last week with the presentation of "Angel in the House," the third and last of the plays to be given by the association until next fall. The next event will be the annual spring tournament of one-act plays, which will be included in the season events for holders of tickets. Frank Lansdown is tournament chairman this year, and has had such enthusiastic responses from Players' groups of various communities of the Southland, that it has been suggested that the event be made a four days' affair rather than the three days first announced and provided for.

The evening will close with the usual social hour during which the host committee will serve light refreshments.

Sorority Organized
Following Session
Of Bridge

Kappa Delta Phi sorority was organized Tuesday evening when a group of girls met with Miss Marcine Cook in her home at 1012 West Second street. During the short business meeting which followed a session of bridge, Miss Louise Pea was chosen president of the organization.

In the card games of the evening Mrs. Marian Beckley held high score and Miss Ruth DuBois low. The enjoyable affair was concluded with a social hour, and the hostess served refreshments of tuna salad, rolls and coffee.

Those present, other than Miss Cook, were the Misses Louise Pea, Ruth DuBois, Katie Pierce, Sally Coe, Patricia Kelley, Elsie Siemsen, Charlotte Chapin, and Mrs. Marian Beckley and Mrs. Crystal Mallott.

Schoolmates Invited To Merry Party

A group of his classmates at Jefferson school on Tuesday helped Billy Schoenrock celebrate the twelfth anniversary of his birthday, when they were invited to a merry party in his home, 1522 Durant street.

Mrs. M. B. Schoenrock had planned a merry celebration for her son, in the big garden. A blazing bonfire provided brightness and cheer as well as a means of toasting wellers which were enjoyed by the young people together with other appetizing dishes. The weiner roast had for its climax the prettily decorated birthday cake which disclosed to the young guests the fact that their host was celebrating his birthday.

All manner of outdoor games and contests were played during the evening hours and shared by Billy and his guests, Mary Middlebrook, Josephine Butler, Wanda Todd, Gordon Peek, Chester Horrocks and Able Feinberg.

Miss Gardner Grooms
Las Meninas Club
In Her Home

Plans for the annual Las Meninas ball, which will probably be staged May 1, were discussed at the regular meeting of that club, held Monday evening in the hospitable home of Miss Ruth Gardner, 1602 North Broadway. The new constitution was voted upon and adopted, after being read by the president, Miss Catherine Harwood. Plans were completed for the mountain party to be held at Mount Baldy March 14, at which time final initiation of the seven pledges will be held.

Following the business meeting, an amusing skit, entitled "The Disturbed Wedding," was presented by the pledges. At a late hour, refreshments bearing the St. Patrick's motif, and emphasized by frilled green nut cups, holding mints of the same tint, were served by Miss Gardner, assisted by Miss Agnes McKinstry. Dancing occupied the remainder of the evening.

Those present in addition to the hostess, Miss Gardner, and the advisor, Miss Genevieve Humiston, were the Misses Ruth Flitz, Agnes McKinstry, Jean Anderson, Catherine Walbridge, Marion Taylor, Esther Romoff, Catherine Harwood, Lorna Allen, Neva McDonald, Florence Stanley, Ruth Collins, Miriam Samuelson and pledge "worms" Priscilla Watson, Eugenia Gire, Demaris Sears, Hazel Hushman, Elisabeth Hurd, Claire Hymer and Rosalind Shilling.

U. D. C. Auxiliary Has Pleasant Meeting In Anaheim Home

Entertained last evening by Miss Jessie Coons in her home on Liberty Lane, Anaheim, members of the Emma Sanson auxiliary, U. D. C., shared in a most enjoyable meeting. Because of the illness of Miss Dean Sue Russell, who planned the affair with Miss Coons, Mrs. R. L. Coons assisted her daughter in hostess duties.

During the short business meeting, opened by Miss Gertrude Montgomery and presided over by Mrs. Cassius Paul, it was decided to open each auxiliary meeting as the original Emma Sanson chapter does, with prayer. Mrs. Coons acted as chaplain last evening, and one of the members will be elected to that office at a future meeting.

It was announced that a $250 prize has been offered by one of the national officers for any person in the United States submitting the best story on colonial Virginia, showing the part that that state and others took in forming the United States.

The program for the evening included whistling solos by Miss Coons, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ernest Reuter. Mrs. Clarence Nissen of Tustin gave some very enjoyable Negro dialect readings. The remainder of the evening was devoted to progressive games, and where scores were added it was found that Miss Louise Maloney of this city and Miss Linda Huggins of Anaheim held high and low scores. Dainty refreshments were served, including individual cakes and loaves in pink and white.

Enjoying Miss Coons' hospitality were Mrs. J. Parley Smith, Mrs. Ernest Reuter, Miss Beth Phillips, Mrs. Clarence Nissen, Mrs. Tarver Montgomery, Mrs. Cassius Paul, Miss Louise Maloney, Mrs. W. Bradford Hells, Mrs. Mildred Harder, Mrs. Ruth Louise Gregg, Miss Gertrude Montgomery, Mrs. Roy Browning, Miss Ruth Taunton and Miss Linda Huggins, a special guest of the evening.

There will be no meeting of the auxiliary in April but in May the members will enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Robert Gregg and Mrs. Tarver Montgomery.

The club will leave the college in a body and swimming will be enjoyed immediately after arrival at the beach. Supper will be served around a campfire.

Miss Velma Bishop is in charge of the supper menu, Lawrence Haupt is arranging transportation and Miss Evelyn Parks, president, will preside at the business session.

Spanish War Veterans Honored By Visit
Of Commander

An event of utmost interest to members of Calumet camp, United Spanish War Veterans and to the auxiliary, was the visit here Tuesday night of Frank B. Graves, department commander of the U. S. W. V. The camp and auxiliary joined with enthusiasm in greeting the distinguished visitor to the meeting in Knights of Columbus hall where the drum corps in full uniform served as escort.

Commander Graves was received by the camp in separate session immediately after his arrival, and introduced to the members who staged a demonstration of patriotic welcome which recognized the high position he has attained. Both camp and auxiliary dispensed with all but the most necessary business matters in order to have the evening free for the joint session honoring the commander and other officers of the department who accompanied him.

W. R. DuBois, commander of Calumet camp, introduced the distinguished visitor and members of his staff who received the salute from those present, including representatives of 18 other camps.

In the address which he gave in response to this greeting, Commander Graves touched upon the splendid program of the organization in local, state and national scope, emphasizing the value of the relief work, of hospitalization, of exemption from a percentage of taxation, and the securing of reasonable pensions. Since these things are all gained as a result of co-operation, he stressed the need of maintaining the organization and the strength thus assured.

In citing the growth of the U. S. W. V. throughout the country, he spoke of his pride in California especially where there are 97 camps with a membership of 14,000, while the auxiliaries are nearly as strong.

Another guest accorded equal honors was Mrs. Lena Teeters, department president of the auxiliary, who brought greetings to the comrades of camp and auxiliary. Commander Graves and his chief of staff, Gene Pecham, are making their official tour of Southern California, having come to Santa Ana from San Diego, and were to go from here to Long Beach.

While in this community they were entertained in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. DuBois and Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Glaze. Mr. DuBois is commander and Mr. Glaze is junior vice commander of Calumet camp.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

United Presbyterian
The Woman's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church enjoyed an all-day meeting yesterday in the church social rooms. Members of the Ladies' Aid engaged in quilting. At noon a delectable luncheon was served by a committee composed of Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. Albert Finley, Mrs. Scott Torrance, Mrs. Anna Scott and Mrs. J. L. Porter. Tables were decorated with sweet peas.

At 1:30 o'clock Mrs. A. J. McFadden opened the meeting. Worship services were conducted by Mrs. Jesse Duckett. Mrs. C. T. Elsie had charge of the program, a surprise feature of which was a talk on "Fords for Use in the Foreign Mission Fields of India and Egypt" given by O. S. Johnston. He has been instrumental in securing 82 cars for use in foreign fields. Mr. Johnston stated that at present a campaign is under way for more cars for transportation, and that at present there is a demand for seven new Fords.

The subject for the program of the afternoon was the "Home Mission Study at Work in the Homeland." Mrs. Scott Thompson spoke on "Paying Our Debt to the Negro," while Mrs. S. H. Finley discussed "The Negro in the United Presbyterian Church." Mrs. C. E. Harris spoke on "Schools and Colleges of the Negro." The closing talk was made by Mrs. C. T. Elsie.

During the business session delegates were chosen for the Women's Presbyterian which will be held in Pasadena March 31 and April 1. They included Mrs. C. T. Elsie, Mrs. S. H. Finley, Mrs. Jesse Duckett and Mrs. J. L. Porter. Anyone else able to attend is invited to do so.

First Baptist

The Woman's society of the First Baptist church enjoyed an unusually interesting and instructive program Wednesday afternoon when members listened to a talk by Harrison E. White, Orange county's new Boy Scout executive, and Miss Dorothy Cartwright talked on Girl Reserve work in connection with the Y. W. C. A. Dr. George A. Warner talked on prohibition and gave some startling facts on the subject.

Morning hours were filled with the usual White Cross work and quilting and about 85 women enjoyed the luncheon hour together, when Mrs. Harry Volk, of Alhambra gave an instructive talk on White Cross work. Three hundred and eighty-five calls were reported for the month.

Hostess Greets Club
Group For Lunch
And Bridge

One of their enjoyable luncheons with its sequel of bridge games was shared yesterday by members of the Friendly Bridge club, who were entertained in the charming and historic old home of Mrs. Elton Roehm on Newport road, Tustin.

Adopting a vernal color scheme of pale greens and yellows, Mrs. Roehm made her dining room an especially inviting spot, with jonquils and sweet peas blooming on the big linen-spread table, where slender candles soared like graceful delicate-hued reeds. The hostess had the assistance of her sister, Mrs. William R. Sylvester, in serving the delicacies of the luncheon menu.

Bridge tables were in waiting in the adjoining living rooms where the guests assembled in the early afternoon. The same spring-like colors of the luncheon appointments were apparent in those of the bridge games. Scores were recorded on pretty cards to harmonize, with Mrs. Clare Johnson out-distancing her competitors. To her was awarded a dresser and chiffonier set in dainty laces, while a similar set for dresser alone was given as second prize to Mrs. A. N. Zerman, and Mrs. Cotton Mather, with third high score, received a lace dressing table scarf.

All club members but one were present to enjoy the afternoon and were in addition to Mrs. Roehm, the hostess, Mrs. Charles O. Artz, Mrs. Asa Hoffman, Mrs. Cotton Mather, Mrs. Clare Johnson, Mrs. Gilbert P. Campbell, Mrs. Charles Cogan, Mrs. Alvin Nowotny, Mrs. William R. Sylvester, Mrs. Clyde Walker and Mrs. A. N. Zerman, with Mrs. Charles Bowman as guest, substituting for Mrs. A. G. Flagg, unable to be present.

Birthday Surprise Is Feature of Affair
In Sprague Home

Following their regular business meeting yesterday morning in the I. O. O. F. hall, members of the Social Order of Beauceant adjourned to the home of Mrs. E. B. Sprague, 1920 Victoria drive where a surprise birthday luncheon was served in honor of their president, Mrs. J. W. McCormac.

Bouquets of sweet peas and daffodils were placed about the rooms, while green candles in silver holders and other appointments in green graced the table. Ices, too, evidenced the St. Patrick's color scheme. It was just before the dessert course was served that Mrs. J. A. Tarpley read a clever little poem in tribute to Mrs. McCormac. A large green and white birthday cake was then brought in and placed before the honoree.

Later, Mrs. McCormac was presented with an array of lovely handkerchiefs on behalf of her assembled friends. An afternoon of games followed, and especially enjoyable was a question box planned by Mrs. J. W. Hancock, Mrs. C. L. Neuschwanzer, Mrs. Elmer Bowlers and Mrs. J. H. Harding.

Native Daughters Will Preside at Benefit Bridge Party

Much interest is being shown in the plans of Santa Ana parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, for a benefit card party to be given Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Z. B. West, 1210 North Ross street. This party will be open to the public, and advance ticket sales which have been made by the Daughters, indicate that an unusually large crowd will be present.

Bridge will be the chosen game and playing will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Raymond Crum is chairman of the hostess committee working with Mrs. West to make the afternoon a social and financial success. Other members of the committee include Mrs. George Seba, Mrs. Edward U. Dickinson, Mrs. Rex Cook, Mrs. Herbert Carter, Mrs. Walter Hickey and Mrs. Frank Sawyer. Pretty prizes will be awarded winners in the afternoon series of games, and the dainty refreshments for which Native Daughters are noted, will place the final touch of enjoyment to the affair.

PLANES STOP FIRE

RIVERSIDE, Cal.—If it hadn't been for the propellers of several airplanes at the airport here, the hangars and other property might have been destroyed by a prairie fire. The fire was finally quelled by setting the planes so that the blasts from their propellers would cause the fire to blow back on itself. The fire was stopped in a short time.

GOITRE

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Filling Up Cake Holes

I have a letter asking me if I can tell how to avoid the long holes in her loaf cakes. The lady says:

"I wonder if you can tell me the cause of holes, long ones, in my cake? I am using a gas stove with an even control, the bottom bakes a little hotter than the top; I usually set the control for 300 or 350 degrees, reducing the heat later. I have less trouble with layers than loaf cakes."

I am positive that the chief cause is the insufficient creaming of the fat before and after the sugar is combined with it. I have found that by adding one tablespoonful of boiling water to the fat, after first breaking it up with a fork, that the fat creams more readily and responds to the whipping it must have if the cake texture is to be fine.

I cream the fat until it can be whipped to the fluffy consistency of thick cream, then the sugar is added, a tablespoonful at a time, this gives the sugar crystals a chance to soften and break down with the continued creaming.

Milk and flour are alternated in mixing and the stiffly whipped egg white folded in last. Right now I am using an oven-controlled gas stove and I find that I get best results in baking loaf cakes when the cake is put into a cold oven, the control set for 325 degrees.

I use the toothpick test—stick a toothpick into the center of the cake, if it comes out clean the cake is baked. Don't depend on the "shrinking from pan" test for loaf cakes if you want a moist, nice cake.

Appropriate Clothes Are Discussed At Club Meeting

The value of wearing appropriate clothes for each occasion was discussed Tuesday evening at the Wrycende Maedenu club of the Y. W. C. A. when Miss Ruth Rowland continued her series of talks on "Clothes and the Business Girl."

With the conclusion of the dinner, served at 6 o'clock in the Y. W. rooms, Miss Beulah Dugdon read some letters of interest to the club. One was from Pasadena girls, and contained an invitation to attend the Pasadena Community play Thursday evening of this week. Miss Mabel Pruitt gave a religious reading which was especially appropriate for the Lenten season.

Miss Dorothy Dresser, president of the club, reminded the girls that the annual birthday dinner, at which time the club's fifth anniversary will be observed, will be held March 17.

Mother and Son Have Joint Celebration Of Birthdays

It is a rare occasion when mother and son have birthdays on the same day, but the pleasure is one shared by Mrs. C. E. Wilson and her son, Lucian Wilson, who yesterday observed their natal day with a party in their home, 1322 South Birch street.

A little group of relatives comprised the guest list at a dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson held early in the evening. Artistically arranged bouquets of peach blossoms, daffodils and sweet peas added interest to the serving of the appetizing chicken menu. Several of the bouquets were presented to the honor guests together with other gifts and greetings. Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their son, were Mrs. Wilson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Augur and Mrs. Ben Meyerhoff, of Long Beach.

Later in the evening, a group of Lucian's high school friends dropped in to take part in a delightful evening. At a late hour Mrs. Wilson served a tempting refreshment course.

BILL DESMOND IN VAUDEVILLE HERE FRIDAY

Headlined by Bill Desmond, movie star, in a 16-minute act entitled "The Dude Bandit," the week's vaudeville bill at the Fox West Coast theater, starting tomorrow for three days, promises to be the best ever brought to Santa Ana according to Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager.

Other acts on the bill include Evers and Greta, tight wire dancers, Big Boy Williams, in "Musical Impressions," Lane and Harper in a baseball comedy act, direct from RKO and the Four Le-Rois, four girls, in "Acrobatics."

The picture which will be shown in conjunction with the vaudeville will be "Swanee River," the first starring picture for Thelma Todd, who has been starring in comedy for several years. The man in the film is Grant Withers, and the locale is down South.

"EXTRAVAGANCE" IS SEEN AT WALKER'S

Two wives of opposite types are illustrators of one of the commonest marital problems in Tiffany's "Extravagance," and the two are played by June Collyer and Dorothy Christy, opposite Lloyd Hughes and Owen Moore. One is extravagant and with her extravagance goes a sophistication which doesn't please her husband. The other is a thrifty hand at buying clothes and such things. "Extravagance" is on the double bill which is closing tonight at Walker's State.

COLBERT, MARCH IN CLEVER PLAY HERE

Claudette Colbert and Frederic March give a surprisingly clever performance in "Honor Among Lovers," which closes its Santa Ana run today at the Fox West Coast theater.

In the cast with the stars are Charles Ruggles and Ginger Rogers. The story concerns a stenographer who wanted a marriage proposal from her boss and instead got a proposition to go around the world with him. How she handled the situation, even though he came from a long line of bachelors, makes for good entertainment throughout. Ruggles in the comedy role is particularly good.

'RANGO' BIG ANIMAL FILM, AT BROADWAY

A little boy of 12 years who lives in the deep Sumatra jungle and who is not afraid to stand his ground for a rifle shot at a ferocious tiger, is one of the amazing characters in "Rango," one of the greatest animal pictures ever to show in Santa Ana. The picture opened a four-day engagement at the Fox Broadway theater yesterday. It is the general belief that the tiger is the king of the jungle, however there is one animal as shown in "Rango" that can and does actually whip the tiger in combat. It is the faithful water buffalo, which not only acts as protector, but also as the beast of burden for the native Malays. The tiger is the only animal of the jungle that kills for the love of murder and whether hungry or not the tiger will slay. Some remarkable shots of the slaying of tigers killing their prey are seen in the film. Even more remarkable are the pictures of the snarling and killing of two big black panthers.

Mystery of the Loltun Cave Hermit

Author Edna Robb Webster . . . who accompanied the T. A. Willard Expedition to Yucatan. . . . This picture was taken before a doorway of the ruined House of the Nuns at Chichen-Itza.

By EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

WHEN the T. A. Willard 1930 Expedition to Yucatan went exploring for new knowledge of the ancient Mayan cities which lie half-hidden in the Central-American jungles, one of the members of the expedition made a hair-raising discovery that wasn't in the cards at all.

Lost for five hours in an endless labyrinth of lightless caves, hundreds of feet below the heart of the jungle, with only three Mayan natives as companions! That was the plight of Robert Stacy-Judd, and it took an even more eerie adventure to get him out of it.

Stacy-Judd decided to visit alone the caverns of Loltun, vast halls carved out by nature beneath the jungle near Tabi. They had been entered before, but little had been learned of them, and still less of mysterious writings believed to be inscribed on the fantastic walls of the cave. So Stacy-Judd took three native Mayans and set out to cut his way through the jungle paths which are called roads in the interior of Yucatan. In the intense heat and the exertion of travel, their water was soon gone, and he was about exhausted when the entrance to the caves appeared. But let Stacy-Judd tell the story himself:

"For six long miles, we had cut our way through tangled undergrowth, walking all the way and with little or no shade overhead, while not a breath of air had stirred to temper the stagnant heat of approximately 110 degrees. Having stumbled over burning, slippery rocks, decaying tree trunks and entangling vines, while our throats were parched with thirst, the welcome sight of the cave entrance was like the discovery of an oasis in the desert.

"We descended through a steep, narrow crevice to a ledge partially covered by an overhanging rock.

This led into a wide passage and thence into an enormous cavern. We were now more than 100 feet below the ground. The vista was startling. I stood there, utterly fascinated, even my intense thirst forgotten for the moment!

"Before us spread a vast, sloping floor of various levels that finally sank into a black void beyond. All about were strewn massive boulders and queer-shaped rocks. The walls of this cathedral-like nave were pierced with innumerable openings having tracery-like arches. From the irregular ceiling depended numerous stalactites of every size and shape. From the floor arose glistening stalagmites, as if in an effort to meet them. Some had met, forming columns of curious shapes.

"At the far end of the cavern, under a series of lower arched caves, we found water.

"I got busy at making photographs, some with the aid of flashlights. I was amazed at the innumerable chambers in every direction, the conglomeration of columns and grotto-like openings, the black holes fringed with lacy-edged arches at every turn.

"We stored our equipment upon a safe ledge, lighted our torches and descended into a blackness that was almost tangible. Very soon we discovered that the ceiling of the best-known passage—one described in detail by previous explorers—had fallen in and that we must seek a new shaft for descending to a lower level.

"We crawled through a long tunnel on our hands and knees, sometimes lying flat and squirming through the narrow passage, and finally emerged into another large cavern that resembled the nave of a large cathedral.

"SUDDENLY I realized the danger of going farther without a system of checking our trail, so I called a halt. Each of us carried a light: one of the Mayans used burning rushes that he had cut above ground from dead, wild henequin; the two natives carried candles, and I an electric flashlight.

"With considerable gesturing, I explained to the first one that he was to stand at the opening through which we had just crawled from the first chamber, and that he was not to move, whatever might happen.

"Slowly we wandered on through the caverns, large and small; grottoes that were vaulted even beyond the torch rays; through low, damp tunnels on hands and knees; over dangerous ledges, bordering abyssal blackness; sliding down steep slopes or crossing over slippery trails where a false step would have proved fatal. From time to time, I called back to the guide whom I had first stationed, and later I stationed a second one with similar instructions, and continued on with the last guide.

"After another 10 minutes of slow progress I had stopped to rest and inspect my surroundings, turning the light on my flash in all directions. Of course, I expected to find one man behind me, but—to my utter amazement—I found all three guides there. They had misunderstood, and followed me after all.

"In a flash, I realized the seriousness of the situation. It was practically impossible to hope that we could retrace our steps through the innumerable twists and turns, with opening after opening that defied recognition.

"I first extinguished the candles and again commanded the two Mayas to stay together with the rush torches.

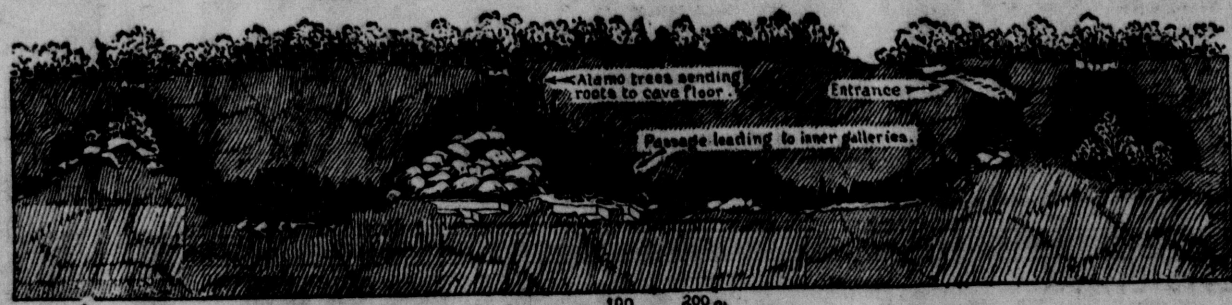

"There stood before me in the arc of my flashlight . . . a very old man. An uncanny light gleamed in his deep-sunken eyes. . . . He had a scraggly gray mustache, but was beardless, a pure-blooded Maya. . . . When we entered the light, it was plain that he was nearly blind."

OUR limited light equipment must be conserved. The third man I took with me, trying to retrace our steps and to recognize some familiar form or mark.

"Finally, when I had recognized nothing for some distance and knew not which way to turn, I had to admit defeat.

"In many places we found evidences of ceilings having fallen in, some of them recently; and often great boulders quite filled a cavern. Once, having crawled through a narrow tunnel with difficulty, we stepped out into a large cavern like a vast baronial hall.

"I was about to cross this room and had actually placed three stones at the opening as a marker, when a sense of impending danger held me back. My companion and I turned about and started to crawl back through the tunnel by which we had reached the immense cavern, and had gone about half way when there was a terrific crash. We felt the earth tremble beneath us, together with a violent rush of air.

"I crawled backward to the opening and found that a large portion of the ceiling of that cavern had dropped; in fact, the exact spot where we had stood was heaped with fallen stones that partially blocked the opening.

"NOW we could scarcely hear the voices of the two men we had left behind, so I stationed my companion with a candle where his voice would reach the other two, and started out alone, numbly hoping that they would all obey my instructions.

"Reaching a very difficult ledge, I crouched low for safety and crawled cautiously over the rocky floor. My proved to be a thin half-gourd that he wore as an improvised skullcap, from beneath the edges of which flared a thatch of coarse, iron-gray hair. Heavy white eyebrows stood out beneath the gourd. He wore a clean, white shapeless garment that was secured about his spare figure by a twisted vine, with the back of it gathered up loosely between his legs and fastened into the belt of vines.

"His bare, shrunken legs had a series of heavy wrinkles beneath the bony knees; and the claw-like hands, gnarled and heavily veined, hung loosely at his sides. He wore sandals with thongs laced criss-cross around his legs, exactly as pictured by the ancient Mayas in the bas reliefs on the walls of ruined buildings.

"It was the weirdest experience of my life. Visualize this old man in these unearthly surroundings, illumined by the flickering lights of a candle and two smoke-trailing torches.

"I waited patiently while my guides conversed with the strange character and I learned with relief that he had agreed to guide us out of the caves.

"By signs they told me that he was 1000 years old. I was willing to admit that he might be over 100. They also said that he was an ancient Maya Hol-Pop, or "master of ceremonies," and that he had been a member of the bodyguard of Maximilian. He told my guides that he was guarding Maya gold and sacred relics, and that he was a hermit who had lived in the depths of the caves, alone, for a lifetime.

"WE followed him in the weirdest procession I have ever joined. Instead of ascending, he led us down into the narrow, almost vertical shaft from which I had watched him rise—and thence into a low tunnel. At great length, after passing through a repetition of the passages by which we had entered, we emerged into a huge cavern near the entrance where the roof had caved in, forming a kind of skylight. To my great relief, I saw my cameras just where I had left them. I looked at my watch. We had been lost for five hours!

"After many cautious maneuvers and gestures, I succeeded in posing the old hermit for a picture, and as he stood there in the bright sunlight that streamed through the opening as through a cathedral window, the queer light in his eyes was explained. He was almost blind.

"Before we parted, I placed in his bony hand a few coins, at which he smiled simply. As money, the coins were valueless to him; but they were not meaningless. He recognized the gift as an expression of my gratitude for his having saved our lives.

"In farewell, he gazed earnestly into my face, then reached out his hand and timidly touched my arm. With that he turned and moved away.

"On the edge of the blackness beyond, he stopped—a diminutive figure at that distance. I watched him as one hypnotized. Then he faced us and raised both hands above his head in a parting gesture, vanishing as mysteriously as he had appeared."

feeble light illumined the vault above; but when I turned it down over the ledge it pierced an endless blackness. The narrow crevice appeared bottomless in its feeble light.

"But just then, I glanced ahead—and paused in petrified amazement!

"What I saw was not there 10 seconds before—that I could swear. Yet there, some two or three hundred feet ahead of me, flickered and glowed a tiny light, casting weird shadows in every direction. Common sense told me that it could not belong to any human being. We four were the only humans in the jungle for miles about. Yet, here in the very bowels of the earth, in defiance of the impossible, was a light! I almost slid off the edge into that abyssal depth.

"I SHOUTED to my nearest guide to follow me—and started forward. My amazement increased. For there arose from the solid rocks, apparently—a human head. Just a head—and it appeared to be shaved. Then, inch by inch, the body emerged into view. I was speechless with wonder when finally there stood before me in the arc of my flashlight, a very old man.

"But his dark, wrinkled face showed absolutely no expression of surprise at my presence. He stood still, with a peculiar tilt to his figure as I approached him, an uncanny light gleamed in his deep-sunken eyes, a half-smile twisted his lips. He had a scraggly gray mustache, but was beardless, by which feature I knew him to be a pure-blooded Maya.

"What I had at first supposed was a shaved head,

Late News From Orange County Communities Prohibition Wins Praise Of Magazine Publisher

McCLURE PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MUSSOLINI

LAGUNA BEACH, March 5.—Laying high tribute to the ability of Premier Mussolini, S. S. McClure, widely known publisher, yesterday told the Wednesday luncheon club of the achievements of the dictator of Italy.

That prohibition and gangster crime can be eradicated within two years by efficient government was asserted by Mr. McClure, who also stated his convictions regarding the benefits of prohibition. The publisher is visiting in this city.

As a significant accomplishment of Mussolini, McClure pointed to the 600,000 unemployment of Italy as against more than 2,000,000 in Great Britain, though there is a difference in population in the two countries of but 10 per cent.

Taking up the crime problem in Chicago, the publisher asserted that a similar condition in Palermo existed, but much worse, so much worse that it would have made the Chicago murders 5000 a year instead of the present 300. Incorruptible police and a courageous judge wiped out the Mafia in two years in Sicily.

Mr. McClure quoted from an article in his own magazine, published in 1925, to show that in 1894, 1895 and 1896 the murder rate in the United States was higher than it has been since, and that conditions from a crime standpoint were worse between 1890 and 1910 than before or since.

As a remedy for the evils of democracy, Mr. McClure thought that a method similar to that used by corporations in selecting those entrusted with the work is the only effective plan.

Stating his position on prohibition clearly, Mr. McClure declared that the liquor business caused more corruption and more crime before prohibition than it does now. Efficient government is needed to enforce prohibition in the opinion of the publisher.

That the United States is asking little more than half of the debts due it from foreign nations was asserted, which, the publisher said, was not generally understood. Touching on the sale of the New York World, Mr. McClure expressed the opinion that the Pulitzer paper had failed to pay in recent years because of "its abominable dog-nose editorial policy."

With 90 per cent of the raw materials controlled by the manufacture of munitions controlled by the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, and with none of these nations desiring war, the publisher thought that peace resides within the keeping of these four nations.

NOTED LABORATORY FINDS WAY TO END "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

You can never be certain that you are not one of the 10 million people in America today who are victims of "Athlete's Foot" infection—an unpleasant, annoying form of ringworm. That is because of the infection's comparative mildness when first contracted, and its several peculiar ways of showing itself. You may notice tiny, itching blisters between your toes. Or the skin may become moist and thickened. It may turn either red or white, or even develop a scaly dryness.

If you discover any one of these symptoms, don't wait for complications. Follow the advice of authorities and douse ABSORBINE JR. on your feet twice daily.

For it was proved by actual tests in a famous New York laboratory that wherever this mild, yet powerful, antiseptic penetrates, it not only cures but kills the trichophyton, which causes "Athlete's Foot."

So after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places and even in your own bathroom—play safe by using ABSORBINE JR. on your feet. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

PARK SCHOOL LUNCHES PROPOSED IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, March 5.—After listening to an explanation of assembly bill No. A B 662, prohibiting the condemnation of private property for park purposes, and bills Nos. 766 and 1415 in regard to the school laws, the Placentia Chamber of Commerce at its regular Tuesday luncheon meeting voted to go on record as favoring the opposition of these bills.

In regard to the Craig law, which Placentia wishes to make use of in withdrawing from Fullerton union high school, District Attorney Sam Collins gave it as his opinion, in a letter read by Secretary Pickerill, that the clause in the law prohibiting the changing of a high school district boundary except between the dates October 26 and February 10, did not apply to Placentia's case and that the Placentia district is at liberty to take action toward withdrawal at any time.

School matters occupied the attention of members for most of the session, S. James Tuffrey criticizing the modern methods of teaching. Louis Jacobsen, LeRoy Lyon and H. H. Hale all upheld the modern methods of teaching. Hall advising parents who were dissatisfied to hold a meeting for the discussion of this subject.

John Tuffrey, reporting on water conservation, announced that soilers were asking ranchers to pledge $1 per acre to help in taking to court the fight against taking water from this basin into another, and urged the cities to also get behind this move, as this loss of water would eventually affect city dwellers as well as ranchers. R. D. Flaherty talked on both school taxes and water conservation, stating that steps were being taken to codify underground water laws.

The Rev. D. J. Brigham reported on the completion of plans for a community sunrise Easter service, and Secretary T. E. Pickerill announced the committee members as follows: Calvary church, Howard Jerome and Dan Henry; Presbyterian church, the Rev. Mr. Brigham and Andrew Ipsen; Nazarene church, E. M. Stanfill and G. Watson; Catholic church, the Rev. Father Joseph Bueno; Mexican mission, the Rev. A. P. Pierson; chamber of commerce, A. S. Bradford, Frank Rospaw, E. M. Everett and T. E. Pickerill. The service will fall on April 5.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE - WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. They can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute.—Adv.

JOINT SESSION HELD BY HARBOR SERVICE CLUBS

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, March 5.—Faculty and students of the new Newport harbor union high school were hosts to the Newport Beach Exchange club and the Costa Mesa Lions club, the two service clubs of the Newport harbor district, at a joint luncheon and meeting in the high school dining room yesterday.

S. H. Davidson, principal of the school, was in charge of the program, given by students of the school. Miss Marie Heibach, music teacher, directed the school orchestra in two numbers which aroused the enthusiasm of the clubmen. A girls' sextet consisting of Leona Rutledge, Mary Helen Crosier, Helen Fuller, Lyla Ruth Allen, Maydelle Allen and Frances Perry, also sang. Miss Jean Bowman was heard in a recital.

Wilford MacDonald, president of the student body, welcomed the Exchange and Lions in a brief talk, and MacDonald and Joe Wilson, another student, representing the High School Press club, portrayed an "interview," which was interesting, particularly to the newspaper representatives present. Macaulay Kopp, another student, played the violin.

K. E. Sharpe, formerly a member of the Memphis, Tenn., Exchange club but now of Long Beach, was a guest, and formally invited delegates from the Newport Beach club to attend the national convention of Exchange clubs, scheduled for Memphis in June.

Joe Wilson announced that the dramatic production, "The Jade Necklace," scheduled for Friday night of this week at the school auditorium, had been postponed until Friday of next week, owing to the sickness of members of the cast. This is the first presentation of this kind by the students of the new high school.

E. R. Hodgkinson, chief of police of Newport Beach, was the recipient of congratulations on the arrival of a son to himself and Mrs. Hodgkinson. Receipts of the day's "good luck" fund were voted to the young man, who is getting along well with his mother at the Newport Beach hospital.

Quick Relief from Constipation

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

Members of the nominating committee are Mrs. L. V. Steen and Mrs. Lewis Edvardson, elected from the executive board; and Mrs. Frank Rospaw, Miss Carolyn Strong and Miss Schroeder, elected from the floor. The committee will report at the next meeting.

Seventy-five members were present at the meeting and the kindergarten, with 28 parents and friends in attendance, won the picture for the month.

The kindergarten band, gay in red and white caps, gave a musical number with the teacher, Miss Schroeder, at the piano.

THE ANYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Now that we've seen the diamond mine, I think that it would be just fine to travel on our way again," said Mister Travel Man. "In some new spot we'll try our luck. Let's hop aboard our trusty truck." "All right," replied the Times. Then out to the truck they ran.

The engine started with a roar and they were on their way once more. "Where are we bound for?" Copy asked. "This road's a winding one. It seems that in the distance there is aught but woods and open air." The Travel Man replied, "Don't fret! We'll have a heap of fun."

"It's Zululand we're heading for and there some new sights are in store. The roads are rather bumpy, but we'll get there just the same. You may be jogged around a bit, but that will keep you feeling fit. Before the trip is over you'll be mighty glad we came."

And so they traveled all day long and not a single thing went wrong. Poor Clowny once kicked 'bout the heat, and 'twas real hot, at that. But Scouty said, "Oh, make the best of what we have. You're coolly dressed. Why don't you try and shade yourself beneath your spreading hat?"

When nighttime came they all camped out. 'Twas cooler then and just about the finest sort of night to sleep. Each one had needed rest. At dawn they started out again. Someone soon spied a hut and then Scouty saw some natives who were very queerly dressed.

"What are they doing?" Scouty cried. The friendly Travel Man replied, "That is a roof they're building. Maybe you can lend a hand. To make sure that the roof's not wrong they make it first and good and strong. And then they build the walls on which the funny roof can stand."

(The Tinymites visit in Zululander's home in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5
The Layman's Call

(Read Luke 10:1-20. Text, Luke 10:2.)
And He said unto them, The harvest is plenteous, but the laborers are few.
Only Luke reports the sending out of the Seventy. The Twelve had already been sent out, but they were not enough. The harvest called for more. The service of the Kingdom is no exclusive prerogative of a priestly caste. It is laid upon all who follow Christ and long for a better world. In no community are there reapers enough for the human harvest. The ministry is plainly breaking down under the burden laid upon it by an indolent but exacting church. A distribution of tasks is called for, which means an enlistment of the men and women, who have already signed up, if they will remember it. The way to save the church is clear and plain. But the greater question is how to save the harvest, which is plenteous.
The Seventy are called for. Are you one of them?

PRAYER: Lord of the living harvest, we pray that thou wilt send more laborers into the field. Give to each one of us the grace of obedience, that he may say "Here am I, Lord; send me." Amen.

THAT LEISURE TIME PROBLEM

The increased number of radios in the homes during these past few years has now and again brought mistrust of the future, amounting indeed to fear, in the minds of people dependent, or vitally interested in certain enterprises. Musicians particularly were fearful. But it is reported by careful observers that there is an increasing attendance at concerts. The radio seems to have inspired interest in music which it does not wholly satisfy so that while people buy their radios and listen in to the programs they have their tastes developed for yet more music.

Now comes a report that newspaper circulation in the United States in the last decade has increased twice as rapidly as the population throughout the country. The figures come from the New York Trust Company, which says: "The combined daily circulation of all morning and evening daily newspapers in the United States now totals more than 40,- 000,000, and more than 28,000,000 Sunday newspapers." This is an increase of more than 30 per cent over 1921.

The circulation of magazines and periodicals, also has been growing rapidly. It is now estimated at 120,000,000 for each issue, approximately one for each person. Quoting again from the New York Trust Company report:

"The printing and publishing business does a volume of business exceeding two and one-half billion dollars a year. The annual returns from newspapers and periodicals amount to well over one and one-half million dollars, of which two-thirds represents revenues from newspapers."

How does it happen that in spite of the new entertainment, the radio, these other things have increased and all the gloomy predictions have been groundless? The answer dovetails in with all the alarms about leisure time which have been voiced by the socially-minded and the educator. Machinery and science, while it has temporarily thrown many out of employment entirely, has brought increased leisure to others who find themselves with shorter hours and still a living wage. As this situation developed the question was asked, what are the people going to do with the increased hours for pleasures and amusements, or education and culture? In the light of the famous army intelligence tests, the alarmists painted a gloomy picture indeed of the future of the country. But the problem has melted away apparently, to some degree at least. People with increased leisure are reading their newspapers, and taking more newspapers to read, and are reading more magazines and books, and are attending more concerts. How else can one account for the increased consumption and use of these things, side by side with the hundreds of thousands of sales of the radio in the last few years? It is the answer to the leisure-time problem. These things are what millions of people have elected to do with their increased leisure.

Sculpturing, a news item says, is being taken up at a Wisconsin reformatory. Which is as good a way as any to make model prisoners.

PERSISTENCE

Mal Daugherty, brother of Harry B. Daugherty, was found guilty of misusing the funds of the Ohio State Bank at Washington Courthouse, Ohio. Mr. Daugherty was president of this bank. It will be recalled that this was the bank through which many of the alleged payments made to the "Ohio gang" went a number of years ago. Some of the books were destroyed when an attempt was made to get the evidence.

It has taken a long time to finally bring the accused to justice and get a conviction, but it was eventually done. The people who have been backing this up, and doing the work, are to be congratulated on their stick-to-it-iveness, for there must have been great pressure brought to bear during this year on them to be less thorough in their investigation and prosecution.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

Well, the "Star Spangled Banner" has at last been adopted as the official national anthem. Petitions in great volume were presented to Congress for this action.

These petitions must have found their origin and the motive for circulation among the real singers of the country and not in the masses, for the masses are unable to sing the "Star Spangled Banner" without expert leadership.

But we will all accept it with good grace, and we will stand when it is sung and take our hats off and squeak when they reach the high notes, but at the same time wishing we were joining in the great chorus of some such piece as the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

BOULDER DAM BIDS

We feel that we should chronicle the opening of the bids for the construction of the Boulder Canyon dam.

The low bid for the general contract was nearly $50,000,000. The actual work of construction will not be begun until low water, which will be in a month or two, and then they will begin on the diversion tunnels.

The contractors are allowed 1065 days to complete the dam to the point where it can be utilized for electrical energy, and all of the work must be completed by 1938.

The top of the dam will be 727 feet from the floor of the canyon. This represents the largest single piece of construction bid on one contract in the history of the country. It is a great project, worthy of a great nation, and probably in the years to come so great will be enterprises that are carried on, that the Boulder Dam project will not seem so gigantic.

Our Southwestern country, by the way, through the Metropolitan Water District, will put in more millions to the utilization of the water here than the government is putting in to make this work possible for us.

Barbers in a Minnesota town are taking oats in payment for haircuts. Swapping shocks, as it were.

MAKE USE OF POETS

The Governor of New Mexico has appointed a poet, Witter Bynner, to his official staff with the rating of colonel. This is a rare occurrence. Poets are seldom so honored by government in a democracy. But why not?
Those who honor and enjoy poetry can tell many reasons why they should be. All governors have official staffs. There is ancient precedent. Solomon in days of old had David to sing to him. Why not dainty Edna St. Vincent Millay a major general on some governor's official staff?

Seriously, however, the great poet George Russell, lecturing this fall in this county on the back-to-the-farm movement in Ireland, spoke of the importance of the artist and the poet in that movement, for he said: they inspire; they appeal to the imagination; they emphasize the beauty in the country-side.

The aim in Ireland was to make the countryside in Ireland a place which nobody would willingly emigrate from. The poet and the artist fire the imagination with the ideal of the enterprise.

In times of unemployment, no one complains when the public is given the works.

SOME WANT THE BILL PASSED

A bill has just been introduced into the legislature to create a radio inspection bureau in California. This bill would empower the appointees of the bureau to go into private homes to inspect the radios for an alleged "interference" which might be caused by electrical devices in the home. It provides a tax upon each radio user for the payment of expenses, and adds another burden and group to state support.

We believe at the present time there is adequate law both to correct any difficulties in radio and for the protection of the public. We cannot be too cautious in passing legislation which interferes with the sacredness of the home and keeping it free from unwarranted entry and interference.

The demand from the standpoint of public interest for such a measure must be very slight. The demand from those who are seeking a public position and an income at additional public expense must be very great.

Greatest Chorus In History Planned
For Feb. 22, 1932
San Bernardino Sun

One of the things planned by the Washington bicentennial commission for February 22, 1932, is the singing of "America" by 100,000,000 Americans, in honor of the greatest American. There would be a chorus sung from the steps of the capitol in Washington, carried by radio throughout the country, participated in by other choruses in scores of cities, and sung simultaneously by groups, families and individuals in their homes and wherever else they might be.

Nearly everybody would be proud to join in such a hymn, whether he could sing or not. And what a hymn it would be. Never on earth has there been such a paean.

The proposal makes us realize what amazing things are already possible in the way of unified communication, publicity and celebration in America. We have hardly begun to use existing facilities. A hundred million people already can, if they choose, act together on any public, patriotic or cultural matter, as if they were a town meeting or a church congregation or a Chautauqua audience.

When a man arises with power to dominate this nation, for any purpose, what instruments he will have ready to his hand!

First Lady Lord Mayor
Oakland Tribune

Miss Margaret Bevan, the first woman in England to be elected Lord Mayor, died at Liverpool a few days ago. For a woman to be chosen to that office in one of the great British ports, the Boston Transcript commented, was regarded as little short of a miracle. Liverpool "gentlemen" who delight in differentiating themselves from mere Manchester "men" have the reputation, despite their courtesies, of being hard-headed business persons. There is no nonsense in their make-up and when they chose Miss Bevan for the most important position in the municipality there was good reason for their action. This stern and meagre spinster had rendered herself prominent not only by the keenness of her intellect but by an activity in local politics and social welfare projects without precedent in the city. Her work on the council had been noted for its usefulness to all sections of the people. The practical character of her addresses was reflected in her accomplishments, and woman as she was, Miss Bevan was enabled to enlist in her favor the best minds in the city. At the same time, her popularity with the working people was unbounded.

Starting New Year Right!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

HOPELESS

I do not need a meddling sage
To tell me that, through bitter labor,
I may, before too ripe an age,
Grow more successful than my neighbor,
And haply gain the mild applause
According to a minor poet.
This isn't news to me, because I know it.

I little mark when financiers
Declare that those of humble station
Can rise to glorious careers
Through stern and avid application,
And thrive as well as students from A celebrated school or college.
Such speakers merely broadcast common knowledge.

When men who've risen to the heights
In speeches or in books have stated
That if one toils both days and nights
He may grow rich and celebrated,
And not from his high goal be turned
But hold his purpose, sure and steady,
They tell me something I have learned Already.

What I should like to know is how
I may achieve a vast ambition,
With not a furrow on my brow
And live in idle inattention.
Yet be so noted and renowned
That no man ever can excel me,
But no one whom I've thus far found
Can tell me.

WHERE THEY ARE NEEDED

We should like to see some of the boosters get under the stock market for a few months.

WORTH HEARING

We'd like to attend a joint debate between General Butler and Mr. Mussolini.

Bank Credit Currency

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

During the War, a thrifty brewer of beer in Austria used thousand kronen notes for labels. That was cheaper than printing the labels. So cheap is fiat money!

Everybody now knows that a stable currency is impossible if the volume of paper money bears no fixed relation to the transaction which money is called upon to effect. Everybody knows the dangers which lurk in fiat money. "After the printing-press, the guillotine."

During the War a deluge of paper money poured forth from the printing-presses in Austria, in Germany and in Russia. Prices kept on rising, and everybody was eager to turn his money into goods. There was consequent speculation in commodities; and for a while there was increased production.

What happens when the volume of paper money shrinks faster than the volume of trade is equally well known. Prices keep on falling. Everybody therefore, is eager to keep his money, rather than to turn it into goods. Production is discouraged; employment falls off; trade thereby suffers a further decline;
prices sink further; and so on.

All this has taken place so many times that everybody expects large changes in PAPER MONEY to be accompanied by large fluctuations in prices, trade and employment. But precisely such fluctuations took place in the United States, in the years of inflation, 1916-1920, and in the years of deflation, 1929-1930.
Yet in neither period was there a huge increase of PAPER MONEY.

It is well-known, however, that above 90 per cent of the trade in the United States is transacted, not by paper money, but by checks on bank deposits, what we may call "bank check currency."

Long ago we found out that business becomes demoralized if paper money is created and retired without reference to the volume of business. What is true of paper money is true of bank credit money.

After supper I was laying on the living room floor on my stomach looking at the funny page in the paper, and I started to laugh like anything, ma saying, Whats so funny, why dont you let us in on the joke?

I was laughing at The Floop Family, G wizz their certeny funny today, I sed.

Let me see them, ma sed.
And I handed her the paper and she started to look at The Floop Family, being about Mrs. Floop coming down to breakfast in her dressing gown with her hair all tied in curl papers looking funny as anything, and Mr. Floop gets so mad he goes out of the dining room and takes off his coat and vest and things and comes back in his undershirt and slippers, looking even funnier.

Ma looking at it with a serious expression, saying, I think thats terrible, the idee of encouraging children to laugh at such truck and making them believe that such manners are funny. It will be a morsery if the present generation duzzent grow up to be barbarians and savages with no more idee how to act than a lot of neglected munkies in a jungle. Willum I think you awt to write to the editor of this paper and tell him if this is his idee of humor, he better go and get some new ideers, she sed.

Well, they do get pritty ruff sometimes, thats a fact, lets have a look at it, pop sed.
And he started to look at The Floop Family and pritty soon what he was doing but laughing like anything even worse than me, and ma sed, Willum P. Potts you awt to be thoroughly ashamed of yourself.

I am, pop sed, I meen Im not laughing at old Floop sitting down to breakfast in his undershirt, I hope I have more dignity than to laugh at anything so crude, Im laughing at the expression on Mrs. Floops face, ha-haha, he sed.

So was I, ma, I sed, G wizz I wouldnt laugh at an undershirt either, I sed, and ma sed, I believe either one of you would laugh at anything at all, if it was only silly enough.
Wich we would.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

ON FIRING TEACHERS

Every now and then some state legislature says to its state university, "Until you clean the dead wood from your faculty, don't ask for further appropriations."

A clear word needs to be said about this "dead wood" issue.

There is some dead wood in every human institution, whether it is a state university, a state government, or a great industry.

Interestingly enough, however, no two men will agree on the same list of dead wood.

The whole problem of "cleaning out the dead wood" from a university faculty is vitally related to security of tenure for teachers as this security of tenure affects academic freedom.

Unless the scholars of a university are free, and are made to feel free, to prosecute their investigations without fear of interference, and to publish their findings without fear of consequence, the university would as well close its doors, for it will die as a seat of unfettered learning and linger only as an agency for partisan propaganda.

If the scholars of a university—after they have proved themselves to the point of having been admitted to the upper ranks of the faculty—are ever put in the position where their security of tenure is likely to be denied with every change in the presidency of the university on the ground of the president's personal judgment of them, this priceless bulwark of academic freedom is gone.

And it must not be overlooked —security of tenure cannot be maintained as a safeguard to academic freedom without its safeguarding some legs competent men along with the abler and the more productive men.

I want now to go on record as believing that a full and candid examination of this problem will compel us to conclude that, in the long run, one of the most profitable investments an enlightened commonwealth makes is the money it spends on the relatively few less competent men that security of tenure safeguards along with its safeguarding of the abler and the more productive men.

A great university can be maintained even though there is some dead wood on its faculties.

A great university cannot be maintained unless its scholars have the feel of freedom from ab-bitrary dismissal that security of tenure gives them.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI
THE ADOPTED CHILD

The homeless child and the childless home should form some kind of alliance helpful to both. There is nothing so pitiful as a child without home and parents. The home without children is a dreary place and void. The two must meet.

Choosing the child is difficult.
All babies are about the same as far as looks go except in the eyes of their mothers. One can tell nothing about a baby except that it is well formed and looks all right.
That may mean something, it may mean something else. How is one to know? One cannot know.

There is nothing certain about childhood, any more than there is about any other stage of life. The only certainty we have discovered is that the child will develop some good characteristics and some that are not so good. The degree of the development is hidden, and so too, is the kind.

It is well to look well into the history of the families from which the child has sprung. If that history discloses characteristics that your family shun, it is just as well that you shun that child and find one whose family is in closer accord with your own. When you adopt a child you adopt its religion, its traditions, its social development, and its complex personality.
If you are one that can bet only on a sure thing, never adopt a baby.

After you have adopted the child understand that you have taken for better, for worse, until death.
Nothing is more unfair to a child to be sent back to an institution after having been adopted into a family. That experience leaves scars that none is justified in inflicting. Consider well your bargain and then whatever comes, hold it.

Be prepared for developments that trouble you. We instinctively dislike any expression of tastes and qualities not our own. It takes affectionate tolerance to accept some of them without bitter reproach. I have known foster parents to work themselves into a nervous state that unfitted them for work because their adopted child liked sugar on her vegetables and their family never, never.

Another crisis occurs very often when an adopted child tells a lie, or pilfers, or does any of the unpleasant things everybody's children do. Immediately the foster parents are up in right. "Is he going to be a thief?" "Is she going to be a liar?" Maybe yes, maybe no. But the same might be said about any child some time in its career. Why lose one's head in this situation and tremble because of what you might have brought upon your family. Your own might just as well have brought it. Keep calm and keep teaching and trusting and hoping just as every other father and mother do.

Adopted children are like all other children as far as children can be alike. No better, no worse. Investigate their heredity, satisfying yourself it is of the sort that you can endure should it develop along the family lines, and then go ahead. And let the child know early in the process that he is adopted—and that he is adopted for good and all.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

CORREGGIO'S BIRTH

On March 5, 1494, Antonio Al-legri Correggio, great Italian painter, was born at Correggio, a small town near Modena, from which the painter received his name.

He was the first among the moderns who displayed that grace, softness of effect and that combined excellence of design, color taste and expression in which he is still unsurpassed. His canvases are peculiarly impressive because of his wonderful treatment of light and shade, of which he was the greatest master among Italians.

Almost before he had seen the great masters, he became a master in style all his own. He was the founder of what is called by some the Parma school of painting.

His best works are prized as highly as those of the greatest masters and he is ranked with Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci.

It was announced today that there are between 10,000 and 12,000 racks of lima beans stored in Or-
